FOREWORD

On behalf of the Department of Science and Technology—Science Education Institute (DOST-SEI), I extend my sincerest congratulations on qualifying for the Science and Technology (S&T) Undergraduate Scholarship. Your outstanding performance in the examination tells us that you have the potential to succeed in a career in the field of science, technology, and innovation.

Bear in mind that this opportunity carries with it a responsibility, which is to pursue excellence in everything that you do. Perform your best in your studies, be involved in meaningful engagements, and build lasting relationships with fellow learners. In other words, we want you to learn as much as you can and make a positive difference wherever you go.

In this respect, our hope is that after finishing your degree, you will commit to improving the Filipino people's quality of life and transforming the Philippines into a country driven by science and technology. May your scholarship move you to be of greater service to your communities and be actual embodiments of "science scholars of the people."

We prepared this S&T Scholars' Handbook to help you navigate college easier as a DOST-SEI scholar. This Handbook contains pertinent policies and information that you, as scholars, should know by heart. Take your time in reviewing its content as we have made this as comprehensive as possible.

In pursuing excellence, be reminded that the DOST-SEI family is here with you every step of the way. We acknowledge that there may be tough times along the way, but when we try solving things together, there will be no problem left unresolved.

I look forward to your successes and I cannot wait to hear your stories!

2. Sequential Rendition of Service Obligation
(ACSTS Resolution No. 2024-05)

The services rendered by a scholar-graduate shall be credited to the service obligation for each scholarship program enjoyed by a degree level sequentially. (A scholar-graduate must have completed his/her service obligation for the undergraduate scholarship before any service shall be credited for the graduate scholarship/grant enjoyed).

If a scholar-graduate, who has partially rendered his/her service obligation for the undergraduate scholarship enjoyed, intends to refund the amount equivalent to the period left unserved but continues to work in the Philippines and have this credited for the graduate scholarship service obligation, such refund shall not be allowed.

3. Deferment of Rendition of Service Obligation

I. Merit and RA 7687 scholars may be allowed to defer immediate rendition of service obligation if they pursue further studies (MS/Ph.D. studies, medicine, law, etc.)

   a. The scholar must submit a letter to the DOST-SEI informing the plan to pursue further studies and submit proof of acceptance to the graduate school, medical, or law school.

II. RA 10612 scholars may be allowed to defer immediate rendition of teaching service when they enroll in a review class and take the licensure/board examination in the field of expertise.

   a. The scholar must write a letter to DOST-SEI for endorsement to DepEd. The schedule of the licensure/board examination must be indicated in the letter.

4. Securing the Final Clearance

I. To secure the final clearance from the scholarship program, the scholar-graduate must submit to DOST-SEI a Service Record and/or Certificate of Employment for services rendered covering the number of years he/she is required to render return service.

II. If at some point, the scholar has engaged in a part-time job, the number of days and hours of services rendered must be indicated in the certificate of employment.

III. If the scholar has rendered service over a period that does not cover the required time completely, he/she must refund the amount equivalent to the period left unserved.

IV. If the scholar has not rendered any return service, he/she must refund the total financial assistance received from DOST-SEI plus 12% interest.

V. If the scholar decides to go abroad for work after graduation, he/she must refund the total financial assistance received from DOST-SEI plus 12% interest.

6. DOST-SEI Graduate Scholarship Programs

Undergraduate S&T scholars are encouraged to pursue graduate studies. They may do so through any of the DOST-SEI Graduate Scholarship Programs.

Accelerated Science and Technology Human Resource Development Program (ASTHRDP) is a unified and innovative human resource program aimed at accelerating the production of high-level human resources by awarding MS and Ph.D. scholarship grants to eligible individuals who will fill in the gaps of identified areas in the basic and applied sciences. The program aims to achieve a continuing supply of scientists and technologists who are well-equipped to conduct cutting-edge research for national development.

Capacity Building Program in Science and Mathematics Education (CBPSME)

aims to accelerate the development of a critical mass of experts in science and mathematics education. This scholarship is generally for the pursuance of master's/doctoral degrees in science and mathematics education in the fields of Biology, Chemistry, General Science, Integrated Science, Mathematics, Natural Science, and Physics.

Engineering Research and Development for Technology (ERDT)

is a program that provides MS and Ph.D. scholarships in the area of engineering. It aims to strengthen the engineering capabilities across the country thereby creating a critical mass of engineering researchers who are trained to innovate, create, solve problems of practical importance, and jump-start high value-added activities in Research and Development (R&D).

(Project STRAND)

Project Science and Technology Regional Alliance of Universities for National Development

The scholarship aims to address the call of the administration to reach out and support the higher education institutions in the provinces that need to be strengthened in terms of developing human resource capabilities to offer quality STEM courses and strengthen the faculty profile of universities in the provinces by providing graduate scholarships which will eventually spur the research and development activities in the regions.

Project STRAND Components

STRAND 1

This component aims to strengthen the faculty profile of the university by granting graduate scholarships to its faculty members in identified fields where the university will niche.

The scholars pursue graduate studies in any of the universities of the DOST-SEI Graduate Scholarship consortia, i.e., ASTHRDP-NSC, ERDT Consortium, and CBPSME-NCGSME, or in a foreign university with a good track record and/or a recognized higher education/ institution in the specialized field in S&T to be pursued.

STRAND 2

Provides scholarships for master's and/ or doctoral degrees in identified STEM degrees in identified universities as long as they strictly comply with the policies and standards on graduate education per existing CHED issuances.

Moreover, the Program aims to strengthen the faculty profile of universities by granting graduate scholarships to their faculty members in identified STEM where they niche.

(STRAND-N)

STRAND for the Niche Centers in the Regions for R&D (NICER) Program is an innovative way of providing graduate scholarships to the faculty and researchers among the Higher Education Institutions (HEIs) hosting the NICER in the regions to strengthen their human resources in specific priority areas being addressed by the NICERs. Through the program, the faculty and researchers related to the NICERs are capacitated. The Program also expands the capacity of HEIs in the regions to cater to DOST-SEI graduate scholarships and provides access to advanced degree studies with approximately the same quality of education.

Project STRAND-N Components

awards graduate scholarships to faculty and researchers of an HEI with an established NICER provided that the degree pursued is aligned with the identified priorities of the NICER.

STRAND N2

recognizes NICER hosts as scholarship-delivering institutions on particular graduate degree programs. These universities are provided with scholarship slots to offer the identified graduate degree program/s.

DOST-SEI Foreign Graduate Scholarships in Specialized Priority Fields in Science and Technology aims to develop a pool of high-quality human resources in science and engineering who will contribute to the country's global competitiveness and economic development and provide opportunities to talented and deserving students to study and obtain MS and Ph.D. degrees in science and engineering in reputable institutions abroad. The program shall upgrade the country's research and technological innovation capabilities in the area of advanced science and emerging technologies.

DOST-SEI UAlberta S&T Graduate Scholarship Program

aims to provide opportunities for master's and doctoral students from the Philippines to study and conduct research in the University of Alberta, Canada with support provided jointly by the DOST-SEI scholarships and the University of Alberta.

PhilFrance DOST Fellowship Program is offered by the DOST-SEI in partnership with the Embassy of France in the Philippines, to foster the mobility of Filipino professionals working in academic, research, or government institutions to the French Republic. Selected scholars pursue Master's or Doctoral degrees in public higher education establishments under the Ministry of National Education, Higher Education and Research of the French Republic.

7. Career Incentive Program (CIP)

The CIP is a short-term scheme to address the administration's call to strengthen the country's S&T capability and avert unemployment of graduates of DOST-SEI graduate scholarships and provide them opportunity to work in research activities where they can contribute their knowledge and expertise. The program is open to MS and PhD graduates of the ASTHRDP, ERDT, STRAND, and Foreign Graduate Scholarship. Interested scholar-graduates may apply to the CIP and they shall be matched with a DOST agency/research institution where their specialization is needed in research projects/activities.
