WARRIOR

I Believe

PAGE 1

I was lost in my life, couldn't find my way
But Your light broke through, turned my night to day
Every chain fell down, every fear was slain
Now I stand redeemed by the power of Your name

No turning back, my heart is Yours alone
I've found my life in the blood and the stone

I believe in the power of Jesus
I believe in the cross that frees us
Every breath, every beat of my heart
Belongs to the Savior who tore the veil apart
I believe, I believe!

When the storm winds rise, still I lift my eyes
You are faithful through the fire and the fight
From the grave You rose, now my soul won't fear
'Cause the same power lives in me right here

WARRIOR

I Believe

PAGE 2

No turning back, my hope is secure
Your love remains, forever it endures

I believe in the power of Jesus
I believe in the cross that frees us
Every breath, every beat of my heart
Belongs to the Savior who tore the veil apart
I believe, I believe!

He is my fortress, He is my song
All of creation will sing along
King of Heaven, risen Son
All glory to the Holy One!

I believe... in Jesus Christ
The risen King... the Lord of life

WARRIOR

I Believe

I believe in the power of Jesus
I believe in the cross that frees us
Every breath, every beat of my heart
Belongs to the Savior who tore the veil apart

I believe in the power of Jesus!
I believe in the power of Jesus!
Forever He reigns – I believe

WARRIOR

AFTER THE RAPTURE

PAGE 1

The morning started just like any other day
Coffee on the counter headlines on the screen
Traffic on the highway people on their way
Chasing little dreams that didn't mean a thing
Something felt different in the quiet of the air
Phones started ringing panic everywhere
Cars left abandoned in the middle of the road
Silence where familiar voices used to go

I remember every sermon that I brushed away
Every warning I ignored along the way

After the rapture I'm still standing here
Living in the silence where Your people disappeared
Everything I chased just vanished in the night
Now I'm searching for the truth I left behind

WARRIOR

PAGE 2

All the things I thought would save my soul
Turned to dust the moment heaven closed
Lord I see it clearly through these desperate eyes
Jesus have mercy... after the rapture tonight

My neighbor's Bible lying open on the floor
Pages turning softly in the breeze
Words in red I never cared to read before
Now they're staring straight back at me
I spent my life climbing ladders made of pride
Chasing bigger houses chasing after time
Posting pictures of a life that looked complete
None of it could buy eternity

Now the silence of this world is screaming loud
And the truth is all that's left for me right now

WARRIOR

PAGE 3

After the rapture I'm still standing here
Living in the silence where Your people disappeared
Everything I chased just vanished in the night
Now I'm searching for the truth I left behind
All the things I thought would save my soul
Turned to dust the moment heaven closed
Lord I see it clearly through these desperate eyes
Jesus have mercy... after the rapture tonight

I thought I had tomorrow
Thought grace would wait for me
But time ran out so suddenly
Like a thief I couldn't see
Now I'm falling on my knees
In a world that's torn apart
Jesus if You hear me now
Please take this broken heart

WARRIOR

AFTER THE RAPTURE

PAGE 4

After the rapture I'm still standing here
Calling out to heaven through my fear
Everything I lived for faded overnight
Now I'm reaching for Your saving light
All my pride has fallen to the ground
Now I know the truth I turned around
Lord I finally see what mattered all along

Jesus have mercy... after the rapture I'm calling Your name tonight

After the rapture... I'm still calling Your name tonight

WARRIOR

I Was Wrong

PAGE 1

I heard Your voice so many times before
Calling me back through an open door
But I kept running down my own road
Thinking I knew where my life would go
I chased the things this world could give Every dream that I could live
But standing here I finally see
None of it means anything without You

Every road I ran just brought me here
Right back to the mercy I need

I was wrong, Lord I was wrong
I thought I could make it on my own
Now I fall before Your throne
Begging for Your mercy

WARRIOR

I Was Wrong

PAGE 2

All my pride has come undone
Jesus You're the only One
Now I know where I belong
Lord have mercy... I was wrong

All the things I thought would fill my heart
Only left me in the dark
All the plans I tried to make
Could never take Your place
Now I'm standing where I should have been Calling out Your name again
Hoping grace will find me here
Even after all these wasted years
Every step away just led me back
To the love I tried to leave

WARRIOR

I Was Wrong

PAGE 3

I was wrong, Lord I was wrong
I thought I could make it on my own
Now I fall before Your throne
Begging for Your mercy
All my pride has come undone
Jesus You're the only One
Now I know where I belong
Lord have mercy... I was wrong

Let Your mercy find me here
Even in my broken years
If Your grace is reaching down
I surrender to it now
I was blind but now I see
You're the only hope for me

WARRIOR

I Was Wrong

I was wrong, Lord I was wrong
I should have trusted You all along
Now I run back to Your arms
Where the lost are found
All my pride has fallen down
Grace is lifting me right now
Jesus hear my desperate song
Lord have mercy... I was wrong
Lord have mercy... I was wrong.

His Heart Is Mercy

They slept while He prayed in the garden alone,
Sweat like blood on the ground, yet no watch of their own.

“Could you not stay awake one hour with Me?”
Still He rose, still He loved, still He set them free.

Peter swore with an oath, “I never knew the Man!”

Three times denied before the rooster began.
But Jesus turned and looked with eyes full of grace,
No thunder, no wrath—just love on His face.

Oh, how patient, how kind, when we fail and we fall,
He doesn't cast us aside, no, He carries us all.

Through every doubt, every stumble, every “Lord, I don't see,”
He teaches, He forgives—His heart is mercy.

This is the way, walk in it too,
Love as He loved when He walked beside you.

WARRIOR

His Heart Is Mercy

On the sea they cried out, “Teacher, don’t You care?”

Wind raging wild, their faith stripped bare.

He calmed the storm with a word, then asked with a sigh,

“Why are you fearful? Where is your faith, O why?”

Yet He reached out His hand when Peter sank low,

“Little faith,” still He pulled him, still He won’t let go.

Emmaus road, hearts slow, eyes dim with despair,

He opened the Word, broke the bread—He was there.

“Slow of heart to believe,” yet He stayed for the meal,

Forgave every doubt, made the risen Christ real.

Oh, how patient, how kind, when we fail and we fall,

He doesn’t cast us aside, no, He carries us all.

Through every doubt, every stumble, every “Lord, I don’t see,”

He teaches, He forgives—His heart is mercy.

This is the way, walk in it too,

Love as He loved when He walked beside you.

WARRIOR

His Heart Is Mercy

PAGE 3

On the shore after breakfast, three times He asked,
“Simon, son of John, do you love Me at last?”
Not to shame, but to heal, to restore what was broken, “Feed My sheep,” spoken soft—grace unspoken.

Oh, how patient, how kind—see the scars in His hands,
He forgave every sin, every failure of man.
When we’re slow, when we’re weak, when we just don’t believe,
He breathes “Peace,” lifts us up, says, “Receive.”
This is the way—go and do the same,
Love as He loved in the power of His name.

Still He walks... still He walks beside us.

When the night falls in around me,
And the fear comes for my peace,
There's a battle in the shadows
That my eyes will never see.

But You stand there in the fire,
Sword blazing in Your hand
Fighting off the silent armies
That rise against Your plan.

I feel the pressure breaking,
But You never let me fall
Your voice thunder in the distance,
I know You're covering it all.

You're my Warrior,
My Defender in the unseen war.

You're my Fortress,
You're the power I've been fighting for.
When the darkness presses in,
Your victory breaks the night again
Jesus, You stand before me,
My Warrior.

Every whisper of the liar,
Every arrow in the dark,

You destroy them with Your presence,
With Your Word that guards my heart.
Even when I'm unaware,
You push back what I can't name
Heaven's armies move around me
At the mention of Your name.

I'm surrounded by Your mercy,
By a love that does not fail
And the King who conquered death
Still tears the gates of hell.

You're my Warrior, My Defender in the unseen war.
You're my Fortress, You're the power I've been fighting for.
When the darkness presses in, Your victory breaks the night again
Jesus, You stand before me, My Warrior.

You fight for me when I don't see
You break the chains, You part the sea.
Your scars declare The enemy's defeat
Forever You reign, Forever You speak.
No weapon formed, No demon's roar
Can stand against The risen Lord!

WARRIOR

In The Lion's Den

They signed the law and sealed it fast,
No prayers to God for days to pass,
But I've lived my life before His face,
I won't stop now to keep my place.

I knew the cost of what I'd do,
Still turned and prayed like I always do,
They watched, they waited, then made their claim,
Now I stand here to face the blame.

I felt it settle in my chest,
The weight of what was coming next,
But deeper still, beneath the fear,
Was something steady, calm, and clear.

WARRIOR

In The Lion's Den

So I walked into the lions' den,
No strength of mine could get me through,
Every step was filled with tension,
But I put my life in the hands of You.
When the dark closed in around me,
And I heard them move in the night,
You stayed with me in that silence,
And You kept me through till morning light.

The stone was set, the voices gone,
No way to tell if I'd last till dawn,
I heard them shift, I heard them breathe,
Close enough to feel the heat.

My thoughts ran fast, my body tense,
Every moment stretched and bent,
But in that place I can't explain,
Your presence settled in my frame.

WARRIOR

In The Lion's Den

The fear was real, it didn't hide,
But it no longer ruled inside,
You didn't take the night away—
You met me there, and helped me stay.

So I stayed in the lions' den,
No power here that I could claim,
Every second felt uncertain,
Still I called on Your name.
When the dark pressed in around me,
And the danger stayed in sight,
You were there in every moment,
And You brought me through the night.

No harm was done, no mark was found,
When they came back and rolled the stone,
I stood there just as I went in—
But I knew I wasn't alone.

WARRIOR

In The Lion's Den

Let every ruler, every land,
See what no one else could plan,
The God I serve does not step back—
He stands with those who choose to stand.

If you're standing where I stood,
And the outcome's out of your hands,
Stay the course you know is right,
Even when you don't understand.
He won't always move the moment,
He won't always change the place,
But He'll be there in the middle of it—
And He will not leave your side.

I closed my eyes that night...
And I woke to His faithfulness...

Shine

Shadows stretch long on the evening news,
Hearts grow cold in a midnight blues,
But I hear the whisper from Galilee shore,
"You are the light, go and shine evermore."
Matthew ⁵ says we're salt and we're flame,
Not hid under bushels, but bold in His name.

When the storm starts to scream and the night starts to bite,
Lift your eyes, child—there's still heaven's light.

Shine, shine, let it burn through the dark,
Love like the dawn, leave a heaven-shaped mark.
Forgive like the Father, be kind like the Son,
Till the whole world remembers the war's already won.
Shine, shine—don't you dim, don't you fade,
We're the hope that the King of Glory made.

WARRIOR

Streets full of anger, screens full of lies,
But Ephesians says walk in the fruit of the skies:
Patience and goodness, a gentle reply,
Turn the other cheek till the hatred runs dry.
Colossians calls us to clothe ourselves new,
Compassion and mercy in all that we do.

When the world tries to bury the fire inside,
Remember the tomb couldn't keep Him confined.

Shine, shine, let it burn through the dark,
Love like the dawn, leave a heaven-shaped mark.
Forgive like the Father, be kind like the Son,
Till the whole world remembers the war's already won.
Shine, shine—don't you dim, don't you fade,
We're the hope that the King of Glory made.

No weapon formed gonna steal this glow,
John 1:5—the darkness don't know.
Every scar on these hands is a torch in the fight,
We carry the cross, but we carry the light.

So sing it out loud, let the chorus ring,
Till every lost soul hears the Savior sing—

Shine, shine, let it burn through the dark,
Love like the dawn, leave a heaven-shaped mark.
Forgive like the Father, be kind like the Son,
Till the whole world remembers the war's already won.
Shine, shine—don't you dim, don't you fade,
We're the hope that the King of Glory made.

Yeah, we're the light of the world,
And the darker it gets, the brighter we burn.

You Restored My Heart

I watched the faces disappear one by one
Chairs at the table turned to empty rooms
Voices I leaned on went silent all at once
And I was left standing in the quiet of the truth
I knew where they were—I held to that Every promise You ever said
But knowing Heaven held them close
Didn't stop the ache I felt instead

You said You're near to the broken
But I couldn't feel You yet

So I held on to You with nothing left in me
No strength, no answers—just a desperate plea
If You still had a purpose I couldn't understand
I'd stay right here and trust Your hand

WARRIOR

You Restored My Heart

Through every question I couldn't see
Through every silence surrounding me
You didn't let go when I fell apart
You stayed... and You restored my heart

The days kept coming but I felt stuck in place
Breathing, but only just enough to get by
I opened Your Word just to find some kind of way
To make sense of the reason I was still alive
I asked You plainly, "What am I here for now?
If everything I knew is gone..."
They said You still had a plan for me
But I couldn't see where I belonged

Still I chose to believe
Even when I couldn't see

WARRIOR

You Restored My Heart

So I held on to You with nothing left in me
No strength, no answers—just a desperate plea
If You still had a purpose I couldn't understand
I'd stay right here and trust Your hand
Through every question I couldn't see
Through every silence surrounding me
You didn't let go when I fell apart
You stayed... and You restored my heart
You turn mourning into something new
You give beauty where the ashes grew
You rebuild what grief had torn apart
You don't waste a shattered heart
You took the songs I left undone
And gave me strength to finish what'd begun
Now every note and every word I sing
Is a living offering

WARRIOR

You Restored My Heart

PAGE 4

And when I thought that part of me was gone
The part that knew how to love again
You opened up a place I didn't know was there
And filled it with a gift I didn't plan
Not replacing what was always true
But expanding what my heart could hold
A deeper grace, a stronger kind of love
More than I thought was possible

Now I stand here with a different kind of faith
Not untouched—but carried through the pain
I see the purpose I couldn't understand
You were leading me all along, not just asking me to stand
And through the sorrow that still remains
There's healing running through my veins
You didn't waste a single scar
You came... and You restored my heart
You restored my heart... You restored my heart...

I'll Dance Anyway

Alarm didn't ring and I woke up late
Coffee spilled all on my shirt again
Traffic backed up, I'm already stressed
And the day ain't even started yet

Phone keeps buzzing, bad news calls
Little things turning into big walls
I can feel it trying to steal my peace
But I won't let it get to me

I've been here before
But I'm not fighting anymore

So I'll dance anyway
Right in the middle of my worst day
I'll lift my hands, let my worries fall
This ain't my battle anymore

WARRIOR

I'll Dance Anyway

I'll laugh instead of giving in
Let the joy of the Lord come rushing in
No matter what comes my way
I'll dance, I'll dance anyway

Got a bill I didn't plan to see
Car won't start and it's mocking me
Weather changed and it poured all day
Yeah, nothing's really going my way

Tried to fix it, made it worse somehow
I just stop and I'm laughing now
All these things used to shake my soul
Now I'm learning to let it go

I'm laying it down
I'm done carrying it around

I'll lift my hands, let my worries fall
This ain't my battle anymore

I'll laugh instead of giving in
Let the joy of the Lord come rushing in
No matter what comes my way
I'll dance, I'll dance anyway

You fight for me, I don't have to strive
You hold it all, You're running my life
Every burden, every weight
I give it up and celebrate

You turn it all for my good, even when I misunderstood
So I'll praise You in the mess and I'll trust You with the rest

Even In The Silence

I prayed for doors to open wide,
Watched them close right in my sight,
Thought I heard You say “go on,”
But the road just didn’t feel right.

I was reaching for the answer,
You were holding back the rain,
Didn’t know that in the waiting
You were keeping me from pain.

When I don’t understand it, When I can’t see Your plan,
I’ll trust the heart behind it— You see what I can’t.

Even in the silence, You are speaking,
Even in the “no,” You’re working good,
Every closed door is Your protection,
Like only a loving Father could.

WARRIOR

Even In The Silence

PAGE 2

When I don't see it, I will believe it,
You're guarding every step I take,
Even in the silence, You are faithful—
You're saving me from my mistakes.

I chased what I thought I needed,
Dreams that glittered in my hands,
But You saw what was behind them,
Things I couldn't understand.

Every detour felt like distance, every delay felt like loss,
But You were rewriting my story with a mercy I never saw.

When I don't understand it,
When I can't see Your plan,
I'll trust the heart behind it—
You see what I can't.

WARRIOR

Even In The Silence

Even in the silence, You are speaking,
Even in the “no,” You’re working good,
Every closed door is Your protection,
Like only a loving Father could.

When I don’t see it, I will believe it,
You’re guarding every step I take,
Even in the silence, You are faithful—
You’re saving me from my mistakes.

You see the danger I don’t see,
You know the end of everything,
What feels like loss is victory
When it’s held in Your hands.

You’re not withholding love from me,
You’re keeping me in perfect peace,
Every answer, yes or no—Is covered in Your grace.

WARRIOR

Even In The Silence

PAGE 4

So I'll trust You in the waiting,
I'll trust You in the "why,"
Even when I don't feel You—
You're right here by my side.

Even in the silence, You are speaking,
Even in the "no," You're working good,
Every closed door is Your protection,
Like only a loving Father could.

When I don't see it, I will believe it,
You're guarding every step I take,
Even in the silence, You are faithful—
You're saving me from my mistakes.

Even in the silence... You are there

From Empty To Redeemed

We left the promise for a distant land,
Searching for bread with empty hands,
But famine followed where we ran,
And took everything we had.

One by one the voices faded,
Silence filled the rooms we made in,
All the dreams we thought were sacred
Buried in the past.

I said, "Don't call me who I was before,
That name don't fit me anymore..."

I came back empty, nothing in my hands,
Broken by the weight I didn't understand,
But You were working in the unseen thread,
Turning every loss to what You said.

WARRIOR

From Empty To Redeemed

From bitter waters to mercy's stream,
You rewrote the end of everything,
I thought my story was done and gone—
But You were writing me redeemed.

She stood beside me, wouldn't walk away,
Left her home just to share my pain,
Said, "Your God will be my God,"
And followed me in faith.

In the fields of grace and provision,
Every step was Your decision,
What looked like chance was Your intention
Calling hope by name.

What I thought was just survival ground
Was holy ground I didn't see till now—

WARRIOR

From Empty To Redeemed

I came back empty, nothing in my hands,
Broken by the weight I didn't understand,
But You were working in the unseen thread,
Turning every loss to what You said.

From bitter waters to mercy's stream,
You rewrote the end of everything,
I thought my story was done and gone—
But You were writing me redeemed.

There was a Redeemer I couldn't see,
Standing in the space between
All my loss and what would be—
You were closer than I believed.

And just like Ruth found mercy's hand,
And Boaz took her in to stand,
You covered me where I am— Paid the price I couldn't pay.

WARRIOR

From Empty To Redeemed

You're the greater Redeemer,
You don't leave us where we fall,
You restore what was broken,
You redeem it all.

Not just fields and earthly ground,
But hearts that were lost are finally found—
What You started, You complete, From empty... to redeemed.

I came back empty, nothing in my hands,
But You called me back into Your plan,
You took the ashes I was standing in
And spoke a future over them.

From bitter waters to mercy's stream,
You rewrote the end of everything,
I thought my story was done and gone—
But You were writing all along...

From Empty To Redeemed

Yeah, You were writing all along...From empty... to redeemed.

I thought it ended in my grief...

But You were writing redemption over me.

More Than Enough

Woke up with breath in my lungs again, That's a gift I don't deserve,
Every sunrise is a reminder of a love I couldn't earn.

You've been steady through the chaos,
Through the noise inside my head,

And every time I thought I lost You, You were closer than my breath.

I don't need the world to change,
Just to know You stay the same—

You are more than enough for me,
More than all I thought I'd need,
In every moment, You're my peace,

Jesus, You are everything.

I don't have to chase it all,

I don't have to fear the fall,

When I'm standing in Your love,

That is more than enough.

WARRIOR

More Than Enough

I've been chasing empty promises,
Things that never satisfy,
But You filled every broken place with a hope that's still alive.
Now I'm living in the freedom that I never thought I'd find,
And every step is just a mercy, every breath a gift of life.

I don't need another sign,
I've seen Your hand in every line—
You are more than enough for me,
More than all I thought I'd need,
In every moment, You're my peace,
Jesus, You are everything.
I don't have to chase it all,
I don't have to fear the fall,
When I'm standing in Your love,
That is more than enough.

WARRIOR

More Than Enough

PAGE 3

If I have You, I have everything,
If I have You, my heart can sing,
No greater treasure, no greater love,
You are more than enough.

If You lead me, I will follow,
Through the joy and through the sorrow,
Every day and every breath,
I will trust You with what's next.

You are more than enough for me,
More than all I thought I'd need,
In every moment, You're my peace,
Jesus, You are everything.

You're enough...
You've always been enough for me.

What You Planted In Me

PAGE 1

I still hear your voice in the quiet mornings,
Steady as the rising sun,
You taught me how to stand when the ground felt shaky,
How to finish what I've begun.

You showed me how to carry the weight with purpose,
How to give when it costs me something,
How to look a man in the eyes with honesty,
And still choose to lift him up faithfully.

And I didn't know it then, but I see it now—
Lord, You were shaping my heart somehow...

So I thank You, Lord, for the love You gave,
Through the lives that You placed in mine,
Every word, every step, every lesson they left
Still echoes through my life.

WARRIOR

What You Planted In Me

PAGE 2

I'm not standing here by my own strength,
I'm walking what they helped me be—
Every good thing growing in my soul
Is what You planted in me.

She saw the good in people nobody noticed,
Loved beyond what made sense,
Taught me how to open up my hands to others,
Even when I had nothing left.
She showed me how to look past every failure,
Find the light in the hardest days,
How to treat every soul like they truly matter,
And meet them with love and grace.

And I didn't know it then, but I feel it now—
Lord, that kind of love don't fade somehow...

Every word, every step, every lesson they left
Still echoes through my life.

I'm not standing here by my own strength,
I'm walking what they helped me be—
Every good thing growing in my soul
Is what You planted in me.

She smiled through days that would've broken most,
Held onto hope like a flame,
Showed me how to trust when the road got heavy,
Still lifting up Your name.

She loved me more than I knew was possible,
Put my heart before her own,
And even when her body was weak and fading,
Her spirit was steady and strong.

WARRIOR

What You Planted In Me

And I see You, Lord, in every part of that—
A love like that don't turn back...

So I'll live what they gave me, I won't let it fade,
I'll carry their light every step that I take,
I'll love like they showed me, give more than I keep,
Be strong when I'm weak, fall down at Your feet.
And I know they're with You, I know they're at peace,
But their voices still guide every part of me—
So I'll honor their lives by the life that I lead,
Be everything, Lord, You called me to be.

So I thank You, Lord, for the love You gave,
Through the lives that You placed in mine,
Every word, every step, every lesson they left
Still echoes through my life.

Not The Man I Used To Be

I was stuck in the weight of my yesterday
Tryin' to carry what You already paid
Every step felt like I was walking in chains
Every memory callin' out my name

But You met me right there in the middle of it
Didn't leave me buried in the pain
You said, "Son, that cross already settled it"
Now I'm never gonna be the same

I don't have to hold it
I don't have to stay
You already took it
You already made a way

Now I'm moving on, yeah I'm moving on
By the grace that pulled me through
I ain't carryin' what I used to hold
I'm alive because of You

You broke every chain, every weight is gone
At the cross where You set me free
Now I'm walking in the man You made
Not the man I used to be

I was holding guilt like it belonged to me
Like I had to pay it back somehow
But You said, "That debt's been nailed to the tree"
And it's finished, it's over now

Yeah the past don't have the final word
And the shame don't get a seat
'Cause the truth of who I am in You
Is the only thing I'm gonna believe

You pulled me from the fire
Set my feet on stone
Now I'm walking higher
Never walking alone

Now I'm moving on, yeah I'm moving on
By the grace that pulled me through
I ain't carryin' what I used to hold
I'm alive because of You

Now I'm walking in the man You made
Not the man I used to be

Who the Son sets free – I believe it
No more chains on me – I can feel it
You made a way where there was no way through
Now I'm standing here because of You

No condemnation – I'm forgiven
New creation – now I'm living
Every step I take, I'm walking proof
Of the power of Your truth

A Special Thank You

TO MY WIFE BEVERLY

Words simply can't express the love and appreciation I have for you. You came into my life in a season that I thought all my best days were behind me. You loved me, supported my dreams, filled my life with love and showed me I still have plenty left to give. God gave me such a special gift when he allowed you to come into my life and when you walked in to my heart. I love you so very much!
