Letsbuyhealthcare is a consumer comparison website advertising and offering services provided by suppliers of private healthcare. We ask consumers to register on our website (www.letsbuyhealthcare.com) and provide us with their name, contact details and other relevant information. Letsbuyhealthcare is free to join and is obligation free.

We arrange with private healthcare providers to present information and prices for all-inclusive packages of healthcare on the Letsbuyhealthcare website in a way that is informative and allows consumers choose the treatment & provider they require.

Typically, healthcare providers (e.g. private hospitals) will supply information to Letsbuyhealthcare on the providers preferred rate at which the healthcare provider will deliver the treatment(s), an indicative waiting time for that treatment and a description of the healthcare that will be provided.

Once we have been provided with that information we then present the offer/s from the healthcare provider on the Letsbuyhealthcare website and consumers are free to choose whether or not they wish to progress with their treatment, accept the healthcare providers offer, make a booking and optionally pay an online deposit (or the full price) directly to a consumer's chosen provider. No payment(s) is made by consumers to Letsbuyhealthcare.

Letsbuyhealthcare is providing a service to the healthcare providers and a fee or commission is separately agreed with those providers.

Letsbuyhealthcare has no hand, act or part in the provision of healthcare and it has no responsibility or liability whatsoever for any additional cost that arises and/or the quality of the service provided by any private healthcare provider, its employees, its suppliers or its contractors.

We do not engage in any advisory services in relation to any of the healthcare offers presented by healthcare providers on the website. The healthcare provider will provide any advisory services relating to the healthcare services offered. Please see our Terms and Conditions of Website Use and our Privacy Statement on our website (www.letsbuyhealthcare.com) for further details.

Letsbuyhealthcare is a “profit for purpose” enterprise. Letsbuyhealthcare can earn a commission on its activities by agreement with private healthcare providers. The structure and rate at which that commission is agreed may vary from provider to provider.
