SUMMER 2026

Dear members,

Summer at the Hunter is off to a great start! Young summer art campers, as well as adult learners, have been exploring the galleries, and many visitors have been connecting our nation’s history to the art in our collection as we prepare to celebrate America’s semiquincentennial.

Just last week, over 700 guests visited the museum during the 4 hours of “Throwback Thursday”. Part of the excitement may be attributable to the fantastical, immersive experience that is the Hunter’s newest special exhibition – Saya Woolfalk: Empathic Universe. The Hunter is thrilled to be hosting this exhibition, which was originally presented at the Museum of Arts and Design in NYC and is making only its second appearance here at the Hunter before it travels to the Smithsonian. Generously sponsored by Guardian Investment Advisors with support from EPB, the Saya Woolfalk exhibition is unlike anything we have presented previously, inviting visitors into a richly imagined world of life-size sculptures, digital projections, and vibrant storytelling that explores the intersection of humanity, technology, and nature. You won’t want to miss experiencing this extraordinary exhibition (and as members, you can return for as many repeat visits as you like!)

In addition to the exhibition itself, we are offering a variety of public programs inspired by the themes of the “Empathic Universe.” Check the program listing on page 6 and sign up for hands-on activities, like creating your own soft sculptures, or join us as community performing artists interpret the works in the exhibition. We will even be conducting a program in partnership with Crabtree Farms exploring the healing properties of plants. And, of course, we will continue to offer multiple opportunities for young people and families to engage with art in meaningful and creative ways. In addition to youth summer art camp, we are offering teen workshops, Sunday Studios, and other hands-on experiences designed to inspire creativity, encourage exploration, and foster a lifelong interest in learning and the arts.

On the heels of our second successful Terrace at Twilight event (see the pictures on p. 10-11), we are making plans for Spectrum 2026, the Hunter’s signature two-night celebration and fundraiser for the museum. We are delighted to announce Lindsay and Jake Hill as this year’s Gala Chairs and Ashley and Daniel McCaul as chairs of the Art Selection Committee. Mark your calendars now for November 12 and 14 and make plans to join us for one or both evenings as we celebrate and support the Hunter and its year-round activities.

Summer at the Hunter is filled with joy, imagination, and community, which wouldn’t be possible without the support of our members. With your membership, you are ensuring that the Hunter meets its mission of inspiring people from all walks of life and connecting them with creativity, knowledge, and ideas. Thank you.

SAYA WOOLFALK

Empathic Universe

Presented by

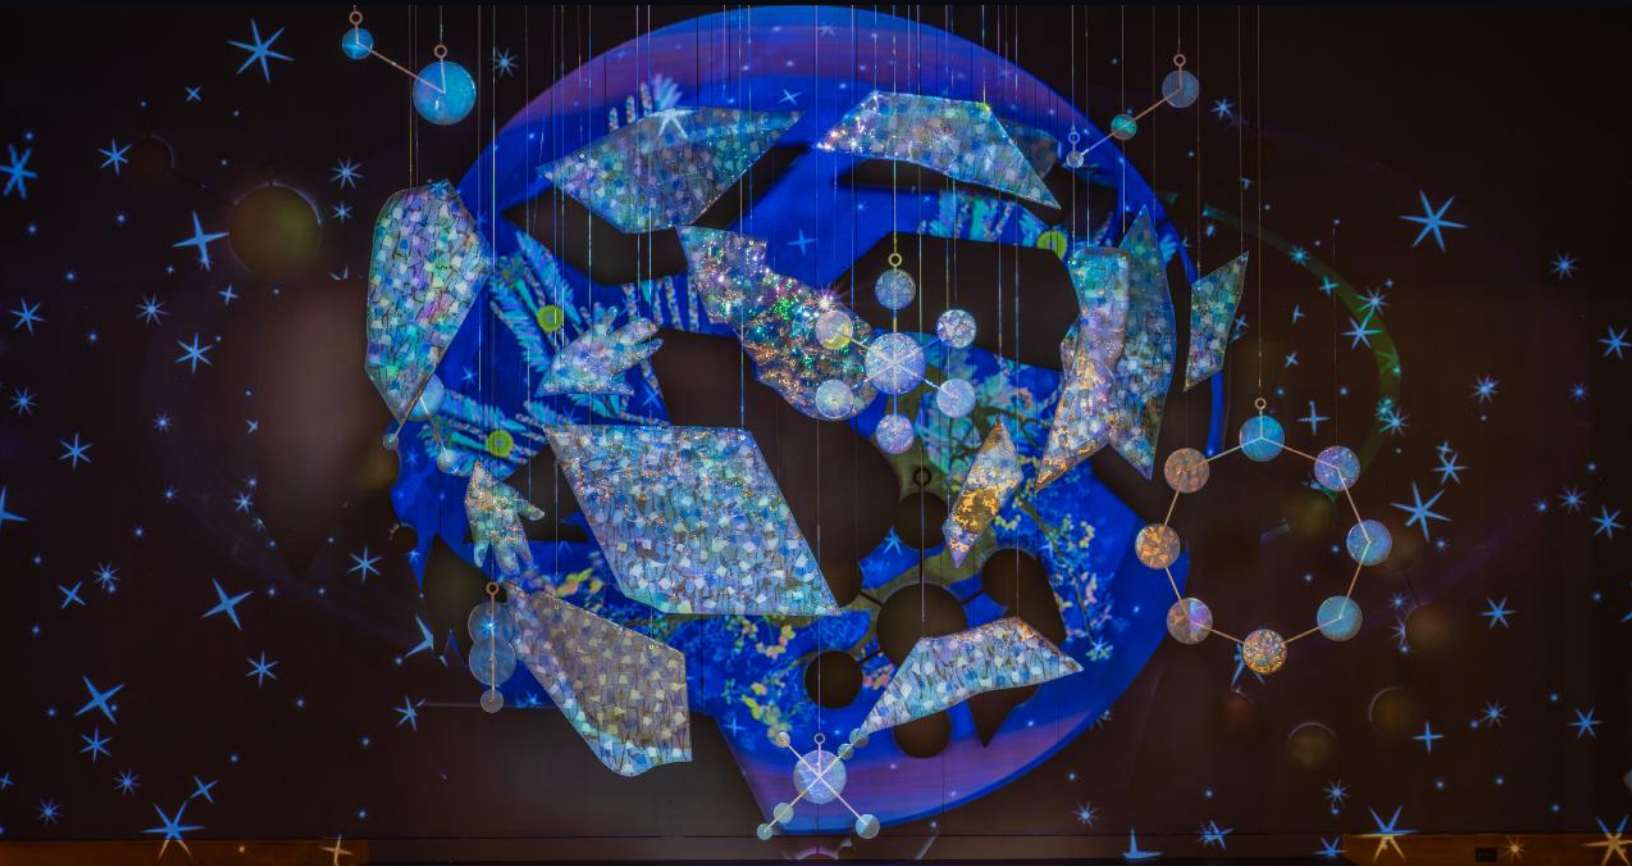

With support from

Step into an imaginative world where art, storytelling, science fiction, and fantasy converge in Saya Woolfalk: Empathic Universe. This immersive exhibition invites visitors into the vibrant world of the Empathics, a fictional society created by artist Saya Woolfalk, whose members can transform themselves, merge with plant life, and adapt to an ever-changing environment.

Through sculpture, painting, video, textiles, and large-scale installations, Woolfalk brings this captivating universe to life. Drawing inspiration from her Japanese, and African American heritage, as well as traditions of global art, craft, and storytelling, she creates richly layered environments that explore empathy, connection, and the possibilities of a more inclusive future.

Organized in chapters like a novel, Empathic Universe unfolds as both an artistic journey and a work of science fiction, encouraging visitors to imagine new ways of living together. This major retrospective spans 25 years of Woolfalk's groundbreaking career, bringing together landmark works that trace the evolution of her celebrated Empathic Universe.

HISTORICAL HIGHLIGHT

Just in time to celebrate our country's semiquincentennial*, visitors to the Hunter Museum's historic mansion will notice a significant reinstallation of Gallery 3 on the second floor. The works in Gallery 3 date primarily from the century after the Declaration of Independence was signed when the country was undergoing rapid change, including westward expansion, industrialization, and population growth as immigrants sought opportunity and new beginnings.

The paintings, primarily genre paintings portraying domestic family life and interactions among people from different backgrounds, offer a look at our newly established nation and share the trials, triumphs and simple joys of the diverse people who built it. The gallery also features more contemporary examples of genre scenes. In Jacob Lawrence's The 1920's... The Migrants Cast Their Ballots (from the Kent Bicentennial Portfolio: Spirit of Independence) people of different ages and from different backgrounds (part of the Great Migration of Black Americans) are depicted exercising their right to vote.

This rotation includes a new acquisition, Fisherman's Wife by Anna Wood Brown (1891), that reflects the Hunter's ongoing dedication to adding works by women artists to the permanent collection.

Alongside genre paintings, the gallery highlights historic furnishings and decorative arts, including the Hunter Museum's unique Jackson Press (a type of cupboard made during Andrew Jackson's presidency (1829-1837) by Tennessee craftsmen paying homage to the politician). The Jackson Press on view at the Hunter Museum (pictured left) was made here in Tennessee, circa 1830!

TERRACE AT TWILIGHT

Terrace at Twilight: Alice in Wonderland Edition was an evening filled with whimsical delight! Guests arrived in their Wonderland-inspired best and were greeted with a choice of “Drink Me” potions and treated to magical color-changing cocktails all night long.

NEW FACES AT THE HUNTER

Meghan Stretar, Development Manager

Formerly the Associate Director of Saint John’s Bible Heritage Program in Minnesota, Meghan moved to Chattanooga in late 2025 and is excited to drive growth and build relationships for the Hunter.

Naomi White, Curatorial Department Assistant

Naomi, who worked with the Hunter previously as a registration intern and assisted with Spectrum 2025 art logistics, joins the Curatorial team.

William Martin, Security Assistant Manager

William, originally from Birchwood, TN, comes from a background in industrial management and safety, helping to ensure that facilities, artwork, and guests remain safe at all times.

SUPPORT THE HUNTER WITH AN ARTS PLATE

Did you know that choosing an arts specialty license plate is one of the easiest ways to support creativity across Tennessee? Each plate helps fund the Tennessee Arts Commission, which provides vital support to local art organizations—including the Hunter Museum. By simply swapping out your standard plate for an arts plate at your county clerk’s office, you’re not just updating your car—you’re helping keep the arts thriving in our community. It’s a small change that makes a big impact, and it lets you show your love for the arts everywhere you go!
