Greetings!

In this edition, we get to know the pet communities in Jakarta and its surrounding areas, such as the Beagle Dog Lovers and Serpong Dog Lovers; their activities; and the ways they educate their communities about dogs. On our cover is Senk Lotta, who gets a lot of comfort from her two furry babies. Furthermore, get to know five cute pets who are on Instagram in "The Charmed Life".

We also have plenty of articles with valuable tips and advice regarding your pets' behavior as well as how to provide them with a healthy life. For those of you who are looking for a reliable pet transport company, Groovy Pet Transport has successfully helped many families move to different countries. Check out Destination USA and find out how the Rounding family moved to the USA. Lastly, we are happy to introduce our veterinarians from Groovy Vetcare Clinic in this edition.

Business activities over the past couple of months have been good. Our Paw Hotel had a peak season due to the led and school holidays in June. We apologize to customers that we were unable to accommodate due to lack of space. To prevent this from happening, we suggest that you book your reservations in advance for the coming Christmas and Year-end Holidays 2017, as well as the led Holiday in 2018.

In July, our Paw Resort had a Dog Summer Holiday on 23 July 2017, and around 50 dogs gathered together and had fun. We added a green playground adjacent to the swimming pool so dogs can also run, jump around and play fetch nearby. In the coming months, we will set up monthly events for PAWrents and their dogs as well as dog communities, such as seminars, clinical workshops, talk shows or others which can further educate PAWrents.

For cat lovers, please visit our Kopi Cat café by Groovy in Bintaro and meet our healthy and playful cats. We are open daily except on Mondays.

Our Groovy Vetcare and Pet Stores continue to provide services and products, please keep in touch with us through Facebook or Instagram: @groovypetjakarta, @groovylvetcareclinic, @groovypettransport, @groovypetshop_kemang, @groovypetshop_rd, @groovy_bintaro and @kopicat.groovy.

We hope you enjoy this edition.

BATH TIME PERKS

BATHING AND GROOMING ARE OFTEN NOT PLEASANT THINGS TO DO FOR BOTH PETS AND PAWRENTS. THEY ARE STRESSFUL, OFTEN TIME-CONSUMING ACTIVITIES, BUT ESSENTIAL FOR PET HEALTH.

By Yosefin Lingga, DVM

Regular grooming is important for dogs. Cats generally do not need baths unless they get themselves dirty. Long-haired cats sometimes have difficulty on catching up on their self-grooming, especially on their whole body, which sometimes results in matted hair, and if left for a long time, may cause skin infections. Obese cats also often have difficulty reaching some parts of their body so they tend to get dirtier than leaner cats.

Here are some tips to help PAWrents during pet bathing time:

PREPARE BEFOREHAND

- 👉 For cat bathing, you probably need two people; one to handle and the other to bathe the cat. If possible, do nail clipping before the bath for safety precaution. For dogs, depending on the size, a leash might be needed.
- 👉 With long-haired dogs and cats you might need to brush their hair before bath time to remove any matted hair. If you brush their hair daily, it is even better since the probability of matted hair before the bath is lower.

👉 If you are bathing your pet in a tub or sink with a slippery surface, a non-slip mat is good to help your pet stand up. Slipping around might add to the risk of injury and stress to the pet.

👉 Having treats near you during bath time is also good to provide positive reinforcement, although not all pets will respond to the treats.

👉 Block any possible escape route. Imagine if your pet, wet with shampoo, makes his escape and runs around the house. Surely chaos will ensue.

BATH TIME

👉 First thing to do before wetting your pet is to plug his ears with cotton balls. You must not let water get into his ears.

👉 Be sure to use lukewarm water to douse your pet from the back of the head all the way to his tail and legs.

👉 Mix the shampoo you are using with water, diluting it into a 1 to 5 mixture. This helps distribute the shampoo more evenly through the coat and skin.

👉 Massage the shampoo onto the coat moving from the neck area towards the tail and then down to his legs. Don't forget to wash the armpits and between the digits.

➡ The face area can be washed with only water. Do not douse the water right into your pet's face since it might scare him. Use your hand or wet cloth to wipe around the face. If the face is really dirty, a very diluted shampoo solution can be used. Be careful not to let any shampoo get into his eyes.

➡ For some breeds like cocker spaniels with big and droopy ears with long hair, the ear flap needs to be washed too. Just don't let the water get into the ear canal.

➡ Next rinse the shampoo thoroughly from the skin and coat. Make sure no residue is left that can cause irritation later on.

DRYING

When your pet is nice and clean, get a dry towel and dry him in a warm place. If he doesn't mind, you can use a blower or hair dryer. Make sure the blow is not too hot for his skin. Test the blow on your hand before directing it onto your pet's body. When he is dry, don't forget to remove the cotton balls in his ears that you inserted before bathing him.

EAR CLEANING

This can be done before or after bathing. Use cotton or gauze to clean your pet's ear canal. Cotton buds can be used to clean only the crevices that you can see. Do not use cotton buds to reach deep into the canal since you might poke the ear drum or push the earwax further into the canal. If it is needed, you can purchase a special ear cleaning solution to clean the ears.

BATH FREQUENCY

The frequency of bathing your pet depends on his breed and lifestyle. Do not bathe your pet too often unless he has a skin condition and you were advised by your vet to do so. Bathing too often will strip the natural oils of the skin and coat resulting in dry skin and brittle, dull hair. This might pose a risk of skin infection later on.

Bath time is also a good time for you to check if there are any abnormalities on your pet's body. Check if there are any skin lesions, rashes, or bumps on the skin. Check if his eyes have discharge or redness. Also check his mouth to see the teeth and gum condition.

In the end you can try to make bath time fun or at least tolerable for your pets. Bring their favorite toys and treats, also talk to them to help calm them down. Stop if the bathing is much too stressful (especially for cats). 🐾

HEALTHY DIETS for PICKY EATERS

IS YOUR PET A PICKY EATER?
OR IS SOMETHING BOTHERING HIM?

By Muhamad Jami Ramadhan, DVM

So, let's say that your lovely furry ones suddenly lose their appetite and just sit there only watching their food without any effort to sniff or try to eat a single piece. And this has already happened more than twice in a week. This situation needs proper attention and you should start to wonder if there is something wrong with the food or other possibilities.

Here are some information:

1 Your pet is already stuffed or there might be other food sources for him

Before you feed your pet, you may want to ask the other people in your home to make sure if they already fed him or not. Is there any chance he is eating something other than his food? Is a family member slipping him scraps from the table? Is your dog munching on feces in the yard? Is he getting into the rubbish bin? Is a neighbor giving him snacks when he is outside? Perhaps another food source is preventing him from being hungry at mealtime. Usually if animals are stuffed, they will not pay any attention to their food.

2 They prefer treats

This is a common problem that drives PAWrents crazy. They tend to give more treats to their pets without thinking of the problem it may cause in the future. Treats are tasty for sure, but they do not comprise a balanced diet. If you want to give treats, you can do so once or twice a day only, or you can change their treats to their regular food (just a little amount of the kibbles) so it is safe for your pet.

3 You always change their food as you please

Yes. Influences are everywhere. Some brands are good, pricey also, so you will try to keep changing their food until one day you will find the right one. Constantly changing food may cause your pet to hold out for something tastier, creating a picky eater. Change can also cause vomiting, diarrhea, as well as allergic reactions. Actually you do not have to keep changing like that, you should feed them a nutritionally balanced diet. Just strictly choose one brand and also one flavor of food that is already acceptable and good, without giving them any side effects. They do not need or particularly like variety in their meals like humans.

4 You think human food is also good for them

Some PAWrents may think human food is okay to be given to

"Is there any chance he is eating something other than his food? Is a family member slipping him scraps from the table? Is your dog munching on feces in the yard? Is he getting into the rubbish bin?"

their furbabies. Most human food contain more carbohydrates, have less protein, are usually oily, and include food coloring as well as preservatives. Even though human food might be tastier for pets and may increase their appetite, these food items contain ingredients that may harm your pets in the future. Feeding human food can also lead to obesity, kidney failure and liver damage.

5 They are just stressed at the moment

Try to observe from the very first time your pets exhibit unusual behavior like refusing or just staring at their food in your home. It could happen if there are some changes that recently occurred like a move, new people coming around, someone familiar leaving, a change in family schedule, or also if you just adopted a new buddy for them.

6 Their food does not make them feel their best

Sometimes pets can be reluctant eaters because the food upsets their tummies. You may need to try switching to a grain-free formula or a different type of protein to induce your pet to eat vigorously.

In general, one of the things mentioned above could be the main reason behind your pet being a picky eater. But if your pet still does not eat after two days that you have strictly done some things that are supposed to increase his appetite, you have to bring him to the vet to get to the bottom of his eating problem. 🐾

NO MORE PEE!

DOES YOUR FELINE
BABY PEE
ON YOUR BED?
BELOW ARE SOME OF THE POSSIBLE
REASONS.

By Maria Zarah Gregorio Viado

You come home from work and look forward to relaxing on your bed. You lie down and suddenly realize there's something seeping through your shirt. It's wet and pungent, then you realize that you're lying down on a pee-soaked bed. The scenario is a PAWrent's nightmare. You can give your furbaby the stink eye but really what does that do? Instead of harboring a grudge against your pet, it would be more constructive to try and find out why exactly your cat is peeing on your bed.

RULE OUT HEALTH REASONS

If your cat is relieving itself in places other than its litter box, s/he might have a medical condition. An urge to urinate is one of the symptoms of bladder stones or a bladder infection. If it happens one time you can consider it an accident, but if it happens more than once, it would be best to schedule a visit to the vet to get your furbaby tested.

STRESS RESULTS TO UNFAVORABLE BEHAVIOR

Apart from health reasons, your feline friend (or friends) might be peeing on your bed due to stress. Any major changes in the household – such as a new dog or a new baby – could affect your cuddly one in a drastic way. Cats are creatures of habit, and they flourish in environments that are predictable and controlled.

Cats are also highly sensitive and if you scold or punish your pet near the litter box, this may create a negative association with the box and make the cat relieve itself elsewhere, such as your bed. Spending quality time with your furbaby and ensuring that you give him/her enough attention can alleviate this.

🐱 LITTER BOX IS OUT OF THE WAY

Perhaps the place where you put the litter box is inconvenient for your little one. If s/he spends more time on the first floor and the litter box is on the second floor, maybe it's time to relocate the litter box where it will be more accessible. Also, consider placing the litter box in a more private area, where your cat can have a bit of privacy. Maybe a quiet corner in the hallway or in an empty room where your feline baby does not need to fight for space and/or access.

🐱 THE MORE LITTER BOXES, THE BETTER

If you have more than one cat, then surely one litter box won't suffice. As a rule of thumb, one litter box should be solely for one cat and the more cats you have, the more litter boxes you should provide. It's easy math.

Each cat is unique, and some furbabies like to have separate boxes for number one and number two. Maybe your furbaby is finicky or just particular in doing his/her business. Get to the bottom of the matter by being a vigilant PAWrent and observe your pet's behavior so you can identify how best to help him/her.

🐱 INCOMPATIBLE LITTER BOX

As mentioned above, each cat is unique, just like each person has his/her own characteristics. And although you have provided a litter box for your cuddly baby, it is possible that s/he is not keen on the specific litter box model you have bought. Perhaps the litter box is too small or too narrow, and if your pet is getting on in years, there is a possibility that s/he may develop arthritis so a litter box with high sides would be hard to use.

🐱 FURBABY DISLIKES CAT LITTER

It may not just be the litter box your feline friend doesn't like, it could also be the cat litter. There are a number of options in the market and a good test to identify what your cat likes is to put one type in one litter box, and put another type in another. See which one your cat will use or take a liking to and whatever s/he picks, that should be the cat litter you use. 🐾

The Charmed Life

ALL FURBABIES ARE LUCKY, BUT SOME ARE LUCKIER THAN MOST. FIND OUT HOW THESE POPULAR PETS ON SOCIAL MEDIA LIVE WONDERFULLY FORTUNATE LIVES.

By Maria Zarah Gregorio Viado

PAWrents would give anything to their beloved furbabies. Some would say that means showering them with love and attention, as well as providing them with the comfiest bed, plenty of toys, quality dog food and treats, and ensuring that they are in the pink of health by bringing them regularly to the vet. While others still go one step beyond and give their four-legged companions some of the best things any dog (or person, for that matter) can have or want in life.

Maximillian Reginald Fudgepudge

Breed: Corgi

Instagram ID: maxthefudgepudge

PAWrent: Grace Gunawan (Photographer, Entrepreneur)

When was Max born?

Max was born 30 Dec 2014. He joined our family 27 Feb 2015.

He was actually named Kairo by the breeder because of the spot on his head and because he has really fabulous and perfect "eyeliner", but we changed his name to Maximillian Reginald Fudgepudge.

What are the different ways you show him you love him? (Do you buy things for him or do special things like take him out or cook for him?)

He is very spoiled indeed. We serve him cooked meals twice daily: mostly rice, beef/chicken and vegetables. But he is on a diet now, so no rice for him. He has his own stroller, so that we can go inside the airconditioned mall when we go for walks (in Central Park Mall, where it is allowed). He also has tons of toys like stuffed animals and tennis balls; he has his own bed, blankie and pillow (although he still prefers to sleep on my bed); and my mom loves to take him on car rides around the neighborhood. But to be honest, he just wants (demands) tons of belly rubs and head scratches – so we give him plenty of that as well.

What are the special treats you like to give your furbaby?

Max loves blueberries, pears and papaya. He also loves kale and broccoli, so we make sure he gets tons of veggies as treats. He also loves this roasted all-natural spare rib that we get from Groovy (I think the brand is called Basic Instinct).

Please describe the unique traits of Max.

He likes to talk back at you; and when he doesn't get what he wants (for example more playtime with you, or more treats) he would get grumpy and sometimes have a tantrum. If we want to go out and leave him at home alone, we have to talk and reason with him slowly and make him understand that we can't bring him. If we forget to do that, he would wreak havoc in the house. He is very silly and funny, very stubborn, and incredibly understanding and smart.

Jackie-O and Thatcher

Breed: Chihuahua

Instagram ID:

thatcher_n_jackie_o

Owners: Franky Wongkar and Jeffrey Jeff (Designers and Entrepreneurs)

When were Jackie-O and Thatcher born? (or when did they join your family?)

Based on their vaccination books, Thatcher was born on 1st January 2012, while Jackie-O was born on 20th February 2012. They joined us around March and May of that year respectively.

What are the different ways you show them you love them? (Do you buy things for them or do special things like take them out or cook for them?)

Whenever we go out or go out of the country, we try to look for pet shops that sell canine clothing or treats! Thatcher loves her treats and we particularly try to source treats that are from Japan or prepared in a rather gourmet culinary style. Jackie-O, on the other hand, really loves soft squeaky toys and she has many to play with! Other than that, my partner likes to make clothes for them, so when they go out, the first thing people actually notice is their clothes, because they are unique and suit their personalities.

What are the special treats you like to give your furbabies?

There's a certain soft biscuit that we buy for them and it's actually from a Japanese producer... as much as I try to limit their treat intakes to keep their weights at bay, Jeff likes to give them 1 piece each day, half in the morning, and half just before they sleep. It's like their bedtime cookies!

Please describe the unique traits of Jackie-O and Thatcher.

Although they're both Chihuahuas, their personalities are complete opposites! Thatcher is a very people's dog, and she just gets along with everyone that comes towards her, no question about that. Jackie-O, on the other hand, is a bit of the wary and feisty one, until now I still have no idea who she would get along with, but if somehow you get into her good book, she'll bond ever so closely with you like you're her absolute best friend!

Nike and Ana

Breed: Mini Schnauzer and Mixed Rescue

Instagram ID: whatgellilikes (they share this ID with their mom)

Owner: Angelika Soegiarto Lee (Doting Mother and Housewife)

When were Nike and Ana born? (or when did they join your family?)

Nike was born 26 June 2008 (My birthday is on 28 June, so we often celebrate our birthdays together) and we bought Nike from a breeder in August 2008. Ana was rescued by Rumah Singgah TPP around October 2014. She was found around Perumahan Semanan. She was very malnourished and had horrible skin condition, ear mites and blood parasites. I adopted her around December 2014. We decided her birthday would be 9 January 2014 (same as my fave "Walking Dead" actor Norman Reedus. Ana is a tri-pawed dog, but even with only three legs, she is full of life, a true survivor, just like Norman Reedus' character on "Walking Dead"). We also named her Ana, after Anakin Skywalker (who also lost his arm) from "Star Wars".

Both Nike and Ana came into my life just like love at first sight. Nike was chosen out of a litter of three pups, but something about him just clicked with me. And I just fell in love. Same with Ana, I followed the Rumah Singgah TPP Facebook page and daily I would see photos of dogs looking for homes. And when I saw Ana's photo, I instantly fell in love with her. She was just like a ray of sunshine, so joyful and so cute. I didn't even care that she only has three legs, or she's not a pure breed, to me she is perfect.

What are the different ways you show them you love them? (Do you buy things for them or do special things like take them out or cook for them?)

I guess the way I love my furbabies is by giving them what I think is a good life for them. From giving them the best food (I order specially catered freshly made food for them), taking them on walks, taking them to dog events so they can socialize with other dogs. I also spend quality time with them by taking them out on one on one coffee dates (I go to Sophie Authentique Café as they are very dog-friendly). I talk to them daily, telling them I am thankful for having such good pups in my life, telling them how handsome and pretty they are and telling them how much I love them. Basically I treat my furbabies the same way I treat my kids (although both of my dogs sleep in the room with me whereas my two kids sleep in a different room) giving them a healthy, well-rounded life, giving them time and attention and lots of love.

What are the special treats you like to give your furbabies?

I don't give them much treats as we have to watch Ana's weight as she can't get too heavy with her three-legged condition. And Nike, being a Mini Schnauzer, has a tendency towards obesity. When I do buy the occasional treats, I like to buy from Trick or Treat Bakery, as they are homemade, no preservatives and they use organic ingredients for their treats. However, I spoil them once a year on their birthdays. I give them Prime Rib Eye Wagyu Steak on their birthdays. My butcher always laughs and shakes his head whenever I get the steaks for my dogs.

Please describe the unique traits of Nike and Ana.

I always say that Nike is my soul mate, he is the one soul from the whole world that was meant to be in my life. I feel that my heart grows and fills with love whenever I see him. I am forever thankful to have him in my life. I often carry him in front of the mirror so he can see what a handsome boy he is. Nike is my first dog, I was so scared to finally make the decision to get him, as I know getting a dog is a longtime commitment, but I'm glad I took the leap and made the commitment, I wouldn't have it any other way. Nike has been with me for almost nine years now, we have an understanding. We can understand each other even without talking. I had him before I was married and before my kids came along. But with every new addition in my life, he welcomed them with love. He is a patient "older brother" to both my kids. He somehow gives off a very wise, gentle and comforting aura.

Ana is the new member of the family and we love her just the same. Unlike Nike, Ana is a firecracker, she is like a clown, very playful and funny. She likes to tease and be playful but will throw a tantrum when we tease her back. She reminds me of my kid going through the terrible twos, being very naughty and pushing her boundaries to know where she can push it to. She likes to roll on her back demanding belly rubs, her face full of funny expressions. She has come a long way from being scared and timid when she first came to our house, now she is just so full of zest and life. Basically, Nike and Ana are complete opposites. Nike is the yin and Ana the yang. Both make a balanced and perfect whole. 🐾

GROOVY going ONLINE

Check out what Groovy has to offer through various online Apps and sites

In this modern era, we retailers and service providers must take advantage of online services and availability. Groovy Pet Shop has been online for more than five years now, but today we are developing a better system and also working together with other service providers such as delivery services, banking systems, online portals etc.

Almost all of us are now aware of the convenience of online shopping, because Apps have been made easier to use, with highly secure payment methods and fast delivery guarantees.

We are happy to inform you that customers can now reach Groovy online, using several options:

- 🛒 By searching from the website: groovy.co.id/shop/
- 📞 By Phone Call to the shop, it can be through Whatsapp or SMS too
- 🛒 By Go Mart apps, with maximum shopping of up to 2 million Rupiah.

🛒 By Happy Fresh apps, depending on the distance of the delivery address and our Groovy Store, goods can be delivered within one hour.

🛒 By Online Portal, we are available at Lazada, Bukalapak and Tokopedia

However, not all items in our stores are available for online shopping, but we will eventually display more items online. This is a great opportunity and creates a wonderful network, because the online system has no limits, and everybody can be a reseller.

But surely, some people will still have the need to go to the shop, to choose and look at the products, size them up and look them over carefully. While some may find comfort in talking to the staff, others may need some advice, or may derive enjoyment from talking to other people who have similar interests or hobbies, and sometimes maybe even problems too. It may be easier to see new products when you can see them around you, or some people may just enjoy actual shopping better, especially if it's for products and goodies for their beloved four-legged babies. The choice is up to you.

Not only are we placing our products online as an additional convenience for our customers, we are also developing an online grooming system. This will mean that we will send our groomer to the customer's residence instead of the customer taking his furry babies to the grooming salon. This is an option that is up to the customer's discretion as sending pets to the grooming salon still carries some pros and cons with it.

Overall, we leave the choice up to you, our customers. You have the freedom to choose which option is more convenient for you. Rest assured that we at Groovy, will always be available to serve you and your pets, the best way we can. 🐾

WE LOVE DOGS!

IN INDONESIA, DOG COMMUNITIES PLAY A VITAL ROLE IN SPREADING LOVE FOR DOGS AND TEACHING PAWRENTS

BEAGLE DOG LOVERS

PLEASE TELL US THE OBJECTIVE OF YOUR COMMUNITY.

As a fun, educational platform for dog lovers to gather and share information and experiences. Also to achieve the goal of healthy and happy owner-dog relationships, and responsibility towards the surrounding environment

WHAT ARE THE DIFFERENT ACTIVITIES YOU ORGANIZE FOR YOUR MEMBERS? PLEASE ELABORATE.

We have fun activities to keep our dogs (and minds) healthy by conducting regular Sunday walks, active FB, IG & WA postings and discussion forums on education and responsibility. We are proud that we have the active support of our members in educating others, by welcoming new members or non-members to the community in every fun activity such as walking, potluck gatherings, swimming and dog events.

WHAT ARE THE WAYS YOU TRY TO SPREAD YOUR LOVE FOR DOGS/ANIMALS IN INDONESIA?

There are many ways to spread love for dogs/animals in Indonesia but a simple way is to begin with ourselves. We have to be examples for our society and how we introduce our dog/other animals to others matters. Another way is education through the sharing of stories (personal & non-personal), events, and giving information (facts) about the animal itself. You can't hate a dog/animal if you have never experienced the love it gives. And how to receive the love from dog/animal, is by doing a proper introduction. We also campaign and promote the 'adopt, don't buy' mindset, and believe that spaying is the responsibility of the dog owner.

HOW DO YOU SHOW SUPPORT FOR OTHER PET ORGANIZATIONS AND/OR CAUSES?

We show our support by donating regularly to selected shelters, adopt within our capability and assist to find foster or adoptive homes for abandoned dogs.

WHAT ARE YOUR FUTURE PLANS OR GOALS FOR THE COMMUNITY?

Our main goal as a community is to spread awareness about dog development and behavior, especially for puppy to senior dogs and to be aware of their health by being observant to early symptoms. Our future plans include not just to understand our PAW kids but also to educate the owners through gatherings, events and social media platforms such as FB, IG & WA. A community should be all about spreading love, sharing experiences, exchanging opinions, understanding each other's points of view as well as building relationships like a family.

It is our hope, for dog lovers, especially beagle lovers, to be well-equipped with the knowledge of the importance of neutering and good breeding, self-discipline of both owners and dogs, and to refer back to the community's purpose, which is socialization for both owners and dogs.

WHAT ARE THE WAYS YOU THINK INDONESIANS CAN SHOW THEIR LOVE FOR THEIR PETS AND/OR ANIMALS?

We can show our pets we love them by:

- + Vaccinating our dogs
- + Sterilizing (spaying or neutering) the dogs to prevent unwanted litters
- + If breeding is a must, being a responsible breeder
- + Caring and being responsible for our own dogs by training them

SERPONG DOG LOVERS

PLEASE TELL US THE OBJECTIVE OF YOUR COMMUNITY.

The purpose of Serpong Dog Lovers' community is to unite all dog lovers in the Serpong area in particular, and other areas in general, providing a place for its members to be able to gather regularly so they can meet up and bring their dogs to socialize, share knowledge, experiences, or advice on how to be a good dog owner, or by posting information, educational articles on the Serpong Dog Lovers' Facebook page.

WHAT ARE THE DIFFERENT ACTIVITIES YOU ORGANIZE FOR YOUR MEMBERS? PLEASE ELABORATE.

Since 2014, the main activity of Serpong Dog Lovers is to gather and conduct morning walks around The Breeze, BSD every Sunday morning. This activity will allow the dogs to learn proper socialization with other people and other dogs, which is very important for the dog's life. Also during the gathering, we can reinforce the good habit of keeping the environment clean and free of dog waste. All dog owners are expected to clean up after their dogs and not litter in public places. Hopefully, this good behavior will spread to the surrounding community and will increase the number of responsible dog owners. Other than the weekly gathering, Serpong Dog Lovers also actively shares educational articles on our Facebook page regarding animal welfare, environmental cleanliness, the fact that dog ownership is a lifetime commitment for the duration of the dog's life, the importance of sterilization to help control dog overpopulation and reduce the number of stray dogs, and encourage its members to adopt rather than buy.

WHAT ARE THE WAYS YOU TRY TO SPREAD YOUR LOVE FOR DOGS/ANIMALS IN INDONESIA?

By providing education to everyone continuously and ceaselessly:

1. Do not torture any animal anywhere.
2. Have a strong commitment to care for and love your pet for his entire lifetime, such as providing quality pet food, veterinary care, vaccinations, spaying or neutering, and any other expense that may be associated with your pet.
3. Give attention to the welfare of the animals around you in accordance with the Five Freedoms principle:
 - a. The animal is free from hunger, thirst and malnutrition, because it has ready access to drinking water and a suitable diet.
 - b. The animal is free from physical and thermal discomfort, because it has access to shelter from the elements and a comfortable resting area.
 - c. The animal is free from pain, injury and disease, thanks to suitable prevention and/or rapid diagnosis and treatment.
 - d. The animal is able to express most of its normal behavioral patterns, because it has sufficient space, proper facilities and the company of other animals of its kind.
 - e. The animal does not experience fear or distress, because the conditions needed to prevent mental suffering have been ensured.

HOW DO YOU SHOW SUPPORT FOR OTHER PET ORGANIZATIONS AND/OR CAUSES?

Serpong Dog Lovers supports and works together with other communities that share the same values:

1. Dogs are not food
2. Adopt don't buy
3. Sterilization to control pet overpopulation
4. Lifetime commitment and ensure the welfare of your pet in accordance with the Five Freedoms principle

WHAT ARE YOUR FUTURE PLANS OR GOALS FOR THE COMMUNITY?

We hope that all members of Serpong Dog Lovers will have intimate relationships between them, will be ready to help each other, and give emotional and personal support whenever needed. We always remind each other that the purpose of the SDL community is in line with always being eager to learn to be a better pet owner and spreading positive influence among other communities and society to ensure the welfare of animals.

WHAT ARE THE WAYS YOU THINK INDONESIANS CAN SHOW THEIR LOVE FOR THEIR PETS AND/OR ANIMALS?

Indonesian people can show their love for pets by:

a. Being a responsible pet owner. Promising to give their pets a happy, safe, healthy and balanced life as they are committed to care for and love them through sickness and health for the duration of their pet's life (dogs and cats usually live up to 15 years or more).

b. Remembering to keep your environment clean and free from your pet's waste and respecting the neighbors by not making excessive noise or exposing them to any discomfort associated to our pets.

c. Allowing public open spaces, public parks, malls or hotels to be pet-friendly places with strict rules that have to be obeyed for everyone's convenience.

d. Starting to encourage the use of service dogs that are specifically trained to help people who have disabilities, such as visual impairment, hearing impairment, mental illnesses, seizure disorders, mobility impairment and diabetes.

e. Beginning to explore the possibility that dogs can be used as therapy dogs to provide affection and comfort to people in hospitals, retirement homes, nursing homes, schools, hospices, disaster areas and to people with autism. 🐾

TRULY PRECIOUS

Small yet precocious, the Chihuahua makes a cute pet.

The Chihuahua breed originates from Mexico. They are usually agile, very alert, confident and sassy. They also tend to be very loyal to one person and are easily provoked to attack.

▶ Life span: 15-17 years

▶ Common health problems: patellar luxation, tracheal collapse, heart problems, eye problems

▶ Also to be noted: Many Chihuahua puppies have a "soft spot" on top of their head which is a part of their skull bone that does not fuse even in their adult stage. This might pose a higher risk of trauma compared to other breeds.

WHAT YOU SHOULD KNOW?

SIZE AND WEIGHT (FORM)

Chihuahuas are one of the smallest dog breeds. They weigh only 2 to 3 kilograms with height of only about 15 to 25 centimetres. Chihuahuas have 2 types of head shape, namely apple head and deer head. The apple head type has a rounder skull top with eyes set closer together and shorter ears. The deer head type has a flatter skull top with eyes widely set apart and longer but equally perky ears.

HAIR AND GROOMING

Chihuahuas have two types of coat: smooth and long. Both types require minimal grooming although the long coat needs more brushing. The nails also need to be trimmed regularly to avoid overgrowth.

IDEAL ENVIRONMENT

These tiny dogs enjoy warm weather and do not tolerate cold temperatures well. They are very small which means they don't need a lot of space but given their curious nature they tend to bark at things that are unusual to them. This includes strangers or noises around their environment. To deal with this, Chihuahuas need socialization and training. 🐾

Gentle Giants

AFTER A HARD DAY'S WORK,
SENK LOTTA LIKES TO UNWIND
WITH HER TWO DOGS.

By Maria Zarah Gregorio Viado

In this fast-paced modern world, more and more people are residing in condominiums or apartments as they are usually strategically located and easier to maintain. However, living in a high-rise may mean not being allowed certain liberties, such as housing and caring for dogs. But this has not deterred Senk Lotta from enjoying the best of both worlds. "Since I live in an apartment, there is not enough space for my dogs. However, they reside in my photo shoot studio in Haji Nawi, South Jakarta," says the radiant model and TV celebrity from Uzbekistan.

Despite the separate living arrangements, Lotta ensures that her two fur babies — Pablo, a Newfoundland (15 months) and Boston, an American Akita (16 months) — are given the best care possible. "Just to be clear, my dogs don't live in cages. They have their own room, and because they're very large and furry, they even have constant air-conditioning. I would say they're quite spoiled," she says with a laugh and further elaborates, "They always have someone with them, whether it's the kennel boy who feeds them and gives them everything they need, to one of my friends who they consider as their daddy. He looks in on them whenever I go out of town for shoots. Personally, I also go visit them almost every day after work. Sometimes, after shooting, even if it's already 1 am, I go see them before going home."

This is no mean feat for someone who has a busy modelling and entertainment career. However, Lotta is a devoted PAWrent and has always loved animals, even when she was a little kid in Uzbekistan, "I really like dogs, even my mom has a dog and my grandmother used to have a dog. When I was younger, I used to play with street dogs in my home country because I felt bad for them as they had no one to play with. Unfortunately, that was the reason why I always used to have ticks as a child." As an adult, she is aware of the responsibilities that come with caring for furbabies, "When I look at my dogs, I think they're so small, but they have actually grown quite huge. When I play with Pablo I have to remember to be careful as he's already 72 kilos. Regardless of his size, he's a very gentle boy."

Asked about the personalities of her babies, Lotta describes her dogs in turn, "I got Pablo in Moscow and he lives to eat. He eats a lot and will do anything for food. He's also very calm and a bit lazy. When there's people around, he's just chill. Boston, on the other hand, I got him from Bandung and he's curious and gets attached to people. When he loves you, he loves you. They're both very friendly dogs." As a PAWrent, Lotta believes in keeping her pets active, "We like to go for walks and at least every week, we go swimming. If we can't go out, we stay in Haji Nawi where we just play and run around." Last year, she even brought the boys with her and joined a community event/marathon in BSD. A very proud PAWrent, Lotta is not one to mince words when talking about her babies. She is very proud of them, and has even enlisted their participation in dog shows, particularly Pablo, "He has won a few prizes, most recently as a best of breed and best of group winner.

"WHEN I LOOK AT MY DOGS, I THINK THEY'RE SO SMALL, BUT THEY HAVE ACTUALLY GROWN QUITE HUGE. WHEN I PLAY WITH PABLO I HAVE TO REMEMBER TO BE CAREFUL AS HE'S ALREADY 72 KILOS. REGARDLESS OF HIS SIZE, HE'S A VERY GENTLE BOY."

"I REALIZE THAT ANIMALS ARE GREAT STRESS RELIEVERS."

He has also been to obedient school, where he was trained for two months."

Apart from spending time with Pablo and Boston, Lotta also has her hands full with work as she is currently involved in the comedy sitcom "Sambalado" on MNCTV and does regular TV guestings in other networks. With her many professional commitments, it seems that Lotta already feels at home in Indonesia, after living in the country for 11 years. Now she is trying out her luck as a budding entrepreneur and successfully set up her own photo shoot studio, where her two adorable dogs live. Her future plans include thinking about the prospect of putting up her own clothing line.

But work things aside, Lotta is a softie at heart. She has nothing but love and affection for her two gentle giants, "I realize that animals are great stress relievers. I just touch or hug my boys when I feel bad or down or emotionally destroyed, and afterwards, I feel happy and truly thankful that they are in my life." 🐾

SPOT Allergy Test & Treatment Service

For Canine, Feline and Equine Allergies

Spectrum Labs (USA) and Groovy Vetcare Clinic are now providing a service of serum based allergy testing. Serum based testing measures the strength of the reaction between the specific IgE antibody and the allergen. Following the test results a hyposensitization and dietary change offer a near guarantee (85-92%) of lowering the animals threshold to where it can live comfortably in its environment. To date 350,000 animals have been tested of which 70% have undergone the recommended treatment.

POISON ALERT!

PROTECT YOUR CAT FROM BEING POISONED.
READ ON TO FIND OUT WHAT ITEMS TO KEEP UNDER LOCK AND KEY.

By Agnya Sinung Suminar, DVM

One character of cats is curiosity. They like to roam around, sniff with their noses and discover things around the home. Sometimes their curiosity could lead them to dangerous, or worse, deadly conditions.

Below are the top toxic items around the house that you should keep away from your cats.

Human Medication

Paracetamol is one of the common anti-fever medications that we keep in the house. It is effective in lowering or alleviating fever in a short period of time. This medicine, although it is safe for humans, is very toxic for cats, even in small doses. As little as 10 mg/kg or only 1/10 tablet can already be very toxic for cats. There might come a time when you feel your cat has a fever and in your panic you try to treat her using the most accessible medication that you have in your house, but you might actually be endangering your furry friend even more. Cats with paracetamol toxicity will look lethargic, have fast breathing, have brown or blue tongues and gums, and may experience vomiting. They usually have a low survival rate, so it's better to prevent accidental exposure to paracetamol than treating them.

Other human medications that can be toxic for cats are cough, cold or allergy medicine. These contain acetaminophen (a painkiller) and pseudoephedrine or phenylephrine decongestants). Acetaminophen is especially toxic to cats as ingestion could lead to red blood cell damage and liver failure.

Anti-depressants, pain relievers, diet pills, vitamins and supplements may also contain one or two ingredients that can't be metabolized by cats.

Chocolate

Most of us know that chocolate is toxic for dogs, but only a few are aware that actually, cats can also get chocolate toxicity. Chocolate contains theobromine and caffeine which can induce vomiting, diarrhea, uncontrolled movements, heart problems, seizures and potentially death. Chocolate is actually far more toxic for cats than for dogs, as low doses of theobromine and caffeine in cats can already make them manifest the clinical signs. Though chocolate is more dangerous for cats, chocolate toxicity in cats is less common than in dogs because of their habit of picking at their food. Keep any food that contains chocolate or caffeine in a closed and locked container, preferably in a place far away from your cats.

Anti-tick and Flea Medications

Anti-tick and flea medications for dogs that contain pyrethrins or pyrethroids, are highly toxic for cats. Pyrethrins or pyrethroids are also commonly used as topical and environmental insecticides and come in a variety of formulations. Cats who are exposed to these ingredients will have symptoms of drooling, abnormal temperature, hard breathing, vomiting, tremors or even seizures that could lead to death. Be sure to read the label carefully before buying anti-tick and flea medications or insecticides as this can save your cat's life. As an option, choose anti-tick and flea medications or insecticides that contain safer ingredients for your cats.

Household Cleaning Products

Some household cleaning products, disinfectants or medicated shampoos have phenol, phenolic compounds and pine oil in their ingredients. This material could lead to toxicity through contact, inhalation or ingestion routes.

VET'S CORNER

Cats are very sensitive to these chemicals because of their limitations in eliminating them and toxicosis is at a lower dose than dogs. Clinical symptoms vary depending on which chemicals the cat ingested or was exposed to. Keep cleaning products in closed, inaccessible areas and make sure that the goods that you have cleaned are already dry and odorless from the cleanser before placing them back into the house.

Essential Oils

Essential oils are now popular as aromatherapy and alternative herbal medicine. They are also used in food and drink flavoring, perfume, cleaning products, personal care products or air fresheners and fragrances. Essential oils and liquid potpourri are concentrated oils of plants that usually contain chemicals. These chemicals are easy to absorb orally or through the skin. Unfortunately, cats don't have enzymes to metabolize these chemicals which make them harmful for cats. If exposed, cats can experience drooling, difficulty in breathing, uncoordinated walking or vomiting. To avoid toxicity, don't let your cats enter a room 2-3 hours after you blow the aromatherapy pot or candle off.

Garlic and Onion

Garlic and onions can be especially tasty for humans but that is not the case for our feline friends. Garlic and onion are species of the Allium family and are considered extremely toxic for cats (and even for dogs). Cats are unable to digest these types of plants and the ingestion of even a small amount can lead to severe poisoning, and if not treated in time, death.

House plants

Cats like to play with plants and sometimes eat them also. Carefully choose your plants at home especially when you have cats. Lilies, chrysanthemums, rhododendrons, aloe, tulips, mushrooms and lots of other plants could put your cat in a toxic condition after she eats or smells them. Non-toxic varieties of lilies such as Calla, Peace and Peruvian can cause irritation of the upper gastrointestinal tract. However, toxic types – the Tiger, Asiatic, Stargazer, Casablanca, Rubrum, Day, Japanese Show and Easter lily – can cause kidney failure.

Dairy Milk

Many people may be surprised to know that actually, dairy milk can be bad for cats. Most cats are lactose intolerant, this means they don't have the enzymes required to digest the lactose in milk. If they drink milk, they may end up with painful stomach cramps and diarrhea. This is due to the undigested lactose which is retained in their intestines, rather than being absorbed into the bloodstream, and end up fermenting because of bacteria. This may lead to a wide variety of stomach problems that often manifests about 8 to 12 hours after drinking the milk.

Rat poison

Rat poisons can contain warfarin, bromethalin or other ingredients. These are toxic for cats. Warfarin can cause uncontrolled bleeding until death, while bromethalin poisoning can lead to vomiting, seizure and death. Always keep rat poison out of your cat's reach.

If you suspect your cats have eaten these toxic food, medicine or materials, call your veterinarian immediately. Your vet may help you through the steps to induce immediate vomiting in your cat to empty its stomach and prevent toxins from entering its bloodstream. Time is very important in toxicity cases, your cat may not show immediate signs but toxins spread rapidly. Getting proper treatment as soon as possible may be the only way to save your cat's life. 🐾

HELP!

MY DOG IS ALLERGIC!

YOUR DOG MAY BE SUFFERING FROM AN
ALLERGY, ARE YOU
AWARE OF THE SIGNS?

By Bernadete Miraclelita W, DVM

Yes, small things do matter! Certain substances or stuff around us may seem harmless, but can unexpectedly be dangerous for our sensitive four-legged buddies, even though most other dogs can tolerate them well. Allergies are one of the most common problems of dogs at any age; these often go unnoticed by PAWrents until the dog shows an extreme reaction towards it. Any substance that causes allergies is called an allergen. Allergens can enter the dog's body through inhalation, ingestion, injection or body surface contact – mostly skin. As the dog's immune barrier reacts to these substances, a variety of symptoms may appear – we call this an allergic reaction. Beware of the signs before they suffer more!

What can cause allergies and what are the signs?

FOOD

Chicken and rice are the top two food allergens, although there are dozens more such as carrots, wheat, lamb, beef, corn, cheese, etcetera. Dogs do not have the ability to recognize allergens; they most probably will keep eating the food even after the symptoms show up. Treats may also contain allergens. Once the allergen is ingested, vomiting, diarrhea, itchiness on skin can appear in a short time. One thing to be noted is that allergies are not the same with toxicity. Grapes, chocolate, garlic, are examples of toxic food, NOT allergies.

SHAMPOO

Reddish skin or hair fall happens after a bath with a new shampoo? You should double check the shampoo ingredients and switch back to the old shampoo or change to a new one before your dog becomes permanently bald.

PLANTS

Several species of tree, grass, and weed pollens can cause allergy by irritating the wall of the respiratory or digestive tract, resulting in excessive secretion of mucus discharge. We can easily notice when our dogs experience runny nose, watery eyes, snoring, repeated coughing or sneezing after exposure. Outdoor dogs with high curiosity are commonly affected.

MEDICINE

Just like people, dogs can also be allergic to antibiotics, or other chemical substances in different types of medicine. This usually happens in hours right after the medicine is ingested or injected. Vomiting, diarrhea, swelling at the injection site, moon face, and even respiratory distress can happen in this case. Contact our Groovy vets for medicine substitution or first aid help immediately when it comes to your dogs.

DUST

Living inside a house increases the possibility of dust allergy in your dogs. Basically, everything inside the house will gather dust, and we PAWrents have to clean it regularly to prevent dust from being inhaled in large amounts. Normal dogs will react by sneezing occasionally but allergic dogs will sneeze unstopably followed with runny nose or/and reddish watery eyes.

INSECTS

Not just the insect itself, insect bites, including flea bites also deliver the allergen compound into the dog's body and may cause itchiness, swelling and other skin problems. Fleas can be prevented by giving routine spot-on treatments to your dogs.

CIGARETTE SMOKE

Dear PAWrents, your pets should never be exposed to smoke – including cigarettes, as it can lead to bronchitis and chronic inflammation of the airways. The mucus produced will slowly block the tract, resulting in breathing difficulty and oxygen deficiency in the bloodstream. Remember, second-hand smoke can pose a higher risk to non-smokers than to the smokers themselves. Choose to quit the bad habit for your own health as well as your pets'!

Some other less common allergens are perfume, fabrics, rubber or plastic materials, feathers, and even vaccines.

? Are there any specific breeds that are more likely to have allergies?

Yes. Terriers, Setters, Retrievers, and flat-faced breeds such as Pugs, Bulldogs and Boston Terriers are more sensitive to allergens.

? What should I do when I think my dog has allergies?

Try to determine the source of allergies. Food allergies can be treated with elimination or changing your dog's food, as well as opting for a hypoallergenic diet. In some cases, dogs with food allergies need special home-cooked meals. Skin allergies are the most confusing since any allergen that comes in contact with the skin or is ingested, quickly manifests itself on the skin. When the itch comes, dogs will most likely lick and bite the affected area, or worse, rub it on rough surfaces. Wounds, abscesses and secondary bacterial or yeast infections might follow if the itch goes untreated. The only certified way to diagnose allergies is by doing a blood check, where you will receive a list of numerous allergens that are positively dangerous, or safe, to your dog. Kindly discuss it with our Groovy vets to find out more information. 🐾

ABLE TO TAKE CARE AND TREAT/CURE MY OWN
PETS. IT BEGAN WITH JUST MY OWN NEED,
I NEVER IMAGINED OR THOUGHT OF TREATING
ANIMALS OR PETS AT THAT TIME.

WHAT IS ONE ADVICE
YOU GIVE TO PAWRENTS?

BEFORE DECIDING TO HAVE A PET, THEY SHOULD MAKE THE COMMITMENT TO TAKE CARE OF THEIR PET UNTIL THEY ARE OLD (OR PASS AWAY). IF THEY CANNOT MAKE ANY COMMITMENTS, THEY SHOULD NOT DECIDE ON
HAVING A PET. THERE ARE OTHER WAYS TO HELP
OR CARE FOR ANIMALS
SUCH AS DONATING TO A SHELTER OR ADVOCATING ADOPTION RATHER THAN BUYING PETS.

✓ HAVE U ALWAYS LOVED ANIMALS?

Since I was born, I was always surrounded by pets. My father also likes animals, maybe that's why we always had pets at home.
