A message from the
Vice-President of Echos TV

Dr. Natasha Bridgmohan

"Knowledge acquired must be shared — and so should wealth."

This guiding mantra has shaped every part of my journey. It led me to build the MIRACLE Model — an ecosystem designed to create freedom, empowerment, and lasting impact. Today, I carry that same philosophy into Echos TV, where we are reimagining media as a tool not just for entertainment, but for transformation.

Echos TV is about evolution. It's about turning the lens toward stories that uplift, motivate, and unite. We are creating a platform that celebrates diversity, amplifies voices, and brings people together through conscious, purpose-driven content. Our innovative share-and-earn model ensures that audiences aren't just viewers — they are participants in a movement toward collective growth.

To my colleagues in media, event curation, and beyond: I believe this is our moment to reshape what entertainment can mean for humanity. I welcome you to explore how Echos TV can partner with your stages, your audiences, and your platforms to deliver not only inspiration, but lasting impact. Together, we can spark the change the world is waiting for.
