ABOUT

Our latest Tesuu Collection

We are very proud to present the Tesuu collection, our range of evocative natural fabric or dyed cotton lampshades. Some, translated into multiple prints and subtle colour variations, has been imagined to awaken a specific emotion — offering a shade for every room, every atmosphere, every moment of the day.

Entirely handmade, each lampshade begins with natural cotton fabric, dyed using three traditional techniques — stamp, screen, or ikat — depending on the character and depth we want to achieve. The fabric is then delicately applied to a hand-shaped rattan frame, giving each piece its unique presence.

Screen dye: Each design is meticulously etched onto a nylon voile before being nailed onto a wooden frame and laid upon the cotton fabric. The dye is then spread evenly over the screen, sinking through the purposed holes and creating the desired pattern on the fabric. Different layers of dye can be applied to the same fabric using different screens creating multicolour patterns.

Stamp dye: The stamps, made of wood and metal, are crafted through a meticulous process, where each groove and rivet must be perfectly fashioned. The dying process begins with the stamp being dipped into hot wax before being pressed manually onto the cotton fabric. The fabric is then bathed in dye once or several times, as needed to get the desired depth of colour. Once dry, the fabric is immersed in boiling water, where the wax is dispersed and the stamp pattern revealed.

Ikat dye: In ikat, the resist is formed by binding individual yarns or bundles of yarns with a tight wrapping applied in the desired pattern. The yarns are then dyed. The bindings may then be altered to create a new pattern and the yarns dyed again with another colour. This process may be repeated multiple times to produce elaborate, multicoloured patterns.

Digital dye: A new technique for Tesuu, digital dyeing blends digital artistry with the feel of natural fabrics. High-precision printing allows us to capture every nuance of colour and the finest details, while preserving the softness and authenticity of the cotton. This method opens new creative possibilities, offering complex patterns and subtle gradients that complement our traditional hand-dyed techniques.

We are thrilled to announce our collaboration with Joli-Jour Paris, where nature's beauty meets craftsmanship.

Her exquisite floral designs, once captured in delicate ink drawings, will now bloom in a new form—gracefully transformed into our lampshades. This collection introduces a completely new technique for us, blending digital artistry with hand-dyeing to preserve every nuance of color and detail.

Each piece reflects the depth and fluidity of Joli-Jour's work, bringing an organic touch to illuminated spaces.

We can't wait to share this journey with you!
