FOR E W O R D

Summer is the season with lively weather, copious outdoor activities, and a sniper's birthday. It's no wonder that it's his favorite season. But when the cold persists and storms keep him indoors, that sniper yearns for the summer sun. When the time comes, Gibby has to check everything off his "Glorious Bucketlist" and make the summertime last!

Summertime GB: The Glorious Bucketlist! is a fanzine about the fun festivities Goldbullet has done and plans to do in the summer. Gibby loves to draw, yap, take photos, and travel. He fairly recently started writing community notes to lay out his thoughts on various topics. His thoughts can be scattered, but his ideas and plans are very particular. Artists, writers, and graphic designers are tasked to get into Gibby's head and present his love for the summer in a journal.

Reflections

Dance in Sunshowers with the Bubbies

We stopped by the small desert town of Rojas to relax after finishing a bounty. The skies were clear as day. Suddenly, it began to rain. I quickly got into some appropriate gear and invited the bubbies out to enjoy the bounty of the unexpected sunshower! It was glorious – the bright sun, the cool rain, and vibrant rainbows everywhere! It was so fun and refreshing to dance in the rain!

A Night Under the Stars with ARMIS

It helped that the ARMIS boys were there with me, too. With the hustle and bustle of bounty hunter work, I don't think we've ever had the opportunity to just sit and be together without stress. All four of us were lying out on a giant picnic blanket looking up at the sky, and I couldn't help but think that the entire atmosphere was just beautiful. Peaceful, even. Something that I wish we could have every day, no matter how unrealistic that truly is in the long run. Octavio's quiet humming, Jurard's questionable jokes, and Ruze's knowledge of the constellations were such a calming experience. Mixing that with the peace that comes from having a day off from fighting corruption beasts, it's something I'll cherish not just this summer, but every day after.

Xenokuni Firework Festival with Hakka and Shinri

Hakka and Shinri invited me to experience the Xenokuni Firework Festival and everything it had to offer!

We started off the day with some games before we settled down. There were plentiful amounts of games to play at the fireworks festival. Target shooting, ring toss, the goldfish scooping game—any game that we could find, we played. And competitively so. Hakka won at the ring toss game, Shinri at goldfish scooping, and I won at target shooting.

Next, we set down the blankets and had a picnic in yukata. It's a Xenokunian tradition, as Hakka told me, to picnic by the riverbed with the food we'd gotten at the stalls as we waited for the breathtaking fireworks display. The food came in abundance and tasted amazing.

All in all, it was a beautiful night hanging out with friends. You could tell the care and commitment that went into the breathtaking fireworks show that concluded the night. I'm glad I got to share it with two of my closest friends.

Observing the Outside of a Coffee Shop

A warm and breezy afternoon great for sketching outside and enjoying a nice drink with the bubbies!

On a warm summer afternoon, I sipped my coffee as I sat outside the café. The peaceful summer scenery with a soft breeze felt so good that it made me pick up my trusty pencil. As time passed, the bubbies kept teasing me as they got progressively bored, but I knew how to handle those little rascals. Eventually, the bubbies returned with sweet drinks while I finished my drawing. I looked at my masterpiece with pride, then glanced at the bubbies chatting about BBQ for dinner. "This is why I love the summer." I took another sip of my coffee with a smile.

The Ultimate Hotdog Eating Competition with ARMIS!

While on a beach trip, Jurard squealed at a sign we were passing by. It was magical— a hotdog-eating contest on the beach. Forget whatever we had planned with sad, soggy sandwiches— this is it. Nothing could have prepared me for the beast I became when that timer started. With Octavio to my left and the two other idiots to my right, the glizzy mountain towered over us and I took a deep breath. Ding! We tackled that mound like piranhas. No time to think, just CONSUME. In a flash, there was only one left. I looked around to see the boys were down and out. I gobbled it down and emerged victorious. I'm writing this, sitting on the shore, stroking my food-pregnant belly while I hear Ruze puke somewhere behind me. This was the best summer ever.

First Time Beach Camping with Cannoli and the Bubbies!

I had to make Cannoli's first meeting with the bubbies special. So, I brought all of them to the camping spot right on the beach: perfect for swimming and a good ol' barbeque. Cannoli got along with them without a hitch. Half of the beach trip was just her chasing two bubbies down the beach strip. At least they knew how to share food with each other.

The bubbies are going to meet Cannoli for the first time. The beach is a good hang out spot for them!

Build and Fly a Kite with Beccy

Art: Bella the Pinhead (@PinheadtheBella)

Beccy had so much fun flying the kite we made together! It didn't really hold up in the end - some of its ribbons fell off and rained down on us like petals - but Beccy had fun, nonetheless. When we got back, I noticed Beccy had been holding onto one of those ribbons. I decided to keep it as a reminder of that wonderful day.

Didn't make it in one piece, but at least the wind didn't carry it too far!

Strawberry Picking with the Bubbies

- Big Bubby wanted some ingredients for a big ol' summer menu for the Tavern, so the bubbies and I headed to a strawberry farm!
- The little guys looked so cute with their little baskets, trying to see who could find the biggest berry!
- We had a picnic for lunch at the farm to take a break from the sun. It was an absolutely gorgeous day to be outdoors!
- Everyone was all tuckered out and snoozed on the way back in the camper. Big Bubby got to work boasting how he was going to make the best summer menu ever.
- He was right in the end! We got to have strawberry ice cream, strawberry rhubarb pie, watermelon strawberry water, and a giant parfait! Mmm!

Run a Summer Beach Tavern with Big Bubby

Big Bubby comes up with many ideas, and thankfully this was one of the good ones. He noticed how sluggish the other bubbies would get during the hot summer days and wanted to help them all out by opening a tavern on the beach, so they could get some sweet cold treats on the hottest of days.

We focused on shaved ice with many different summer fruits as toppings. It was hard not to eat it all myself!

I was surprised just how successful of a summer tavern it was!

Every little customer that we had looked so happy when they took a bite of their cool treats. This is what making food for others is all about!

Hopefully, I'll have the time to bring this tavern back next summer as well!

Win a Tactical Water Gun Fight with ARMIS

How I Won the ARMIS Tactical Water Gun Fight

- Step #1: I familiarized myself with the terrain. Having a giant, sprawling battle arena sounded cool on paper until the other boys realized how many vantage points I had because of it.
- Step #2: I had backups for the backups of my gear, that's how much I had prepared. It helps in a pinch because that's all the time it takes for something to go wrong.
- Step #3: I never got too comfortable in one place. Getting ambushed from being too comfortable in one place was a surefire way to lose.
- Step #4: I kept a watch out. Sometimes, and by 'sometimes', I mean most, the boys will give away their positions with slight movements that it takes an eagle-eyed sharpshooter to notice.
- Step #5: I kept blasting. Nothing was gonna stop me from winning this water gun fight and strip me of my title of head sniper of ARMIS.

Let's Check Out Trinkets, Bubbies!

Man, I know it's been a while since I've lived in the Badlands with you bubbies, but I didn't think it was THAT long already! This calls for some summertime cleaning.

Let's see, I do remember having pins and knick knacks over here in my cabinet. Ah, there they are! A shiny camper van enamel pin, a ruby-colored brooch—wait, is this Jurard's? Uh... OH, WOULD YOU LOOK AT THAT! It's a bubbie can badge from the scout camp we had last summer. Aww, that's sweet. There's actually a bunch of stuff in here.

Like, we have a pirate embroidered patch I can use for free?! Other than that, there's a small keychain of Cannoli's paws and some personalized ARMIS merch, it seems like. Wow, I completely forgot about those. I'm so glad we got to rediscover these together, my bubbies! We should definitely do summertime cleaning more in the future.

Surf's Up with the Bubbies

Gibby's Surfing Checklist

1. Remember to slather on some sunblock. Beach activities can burn if you're not careful.
2. Teach the bubbies how to balance on the board. It may take a few tries before they get the hang of it, but that's okay!
3. Take them out on the water. Sometimes direct experience is the best teacher.
4. They might get scared to surf and hold on to you. That's totally okay, just remind them that they're safe and nothing will happen to them.
5. Have fun no matter what the outcome. That's the most important part.

Buy One of Everything at an Ice Cream Truck

- Listen for the irresistible sound of the first ice cream truck of the summer!
- Grab some hard-earned coins and rush outside! Don't let it get away!
- Get one of everything to go! Yes, EVERYTHING!
- Fill my arms with ice cream pops and treats!
- Sit in the Tavern and taste test everything before it melts!

Make Bizarre Cold Desserts with ARMIS

This summer, I want to spend more time with ARMIS. We've already done a lot together, but desserts never made it into the beach episode. Then I thought... bizarre desserts!

I bet Ruze would make Nectar ice cream—malty, slightly bitter, and fitting for his personality, maybe with a subtle herbal twist or aftertaste that lingers in a weird but interesting way. Octavio would probably make baked bean brownies for extra protein, rich and fudgy with that unexpected savory depth. Jurard is impossible to predict. Maybe a stretchy, gooey slime dessert that somehow tastes like candy. I'm excited to try them! What could possibly go wrong?

Cooking A Slaphappy Jellyfalse Special

The Slaphappy Jellyfalse is a rare fish disguised as a jellyfish, and I hear it's a real tasty one. I'm dying to cook one for myself.

Cooking Souffle Pancake World Record!

- Get my razor sharp focus back after that intense dream.
- Promise the bubbies they'll have their afternoon snacks in no time.
- Head to the kitchen to prepare my apron, necessary cooking tools, and myself.
- Flip the pancake batter evenly and gracefully do the plating.
- Present the tallest souffle pancake tower to the bubbies for the world record!

Win Every Carnival Game Against ARMIS

I wanna beat Jurard in the shooting and darts games. He's gonna lose his focus if I ragebait him hard enough. I always wanted to spray someone with a water gun during one of those clown balloon games.

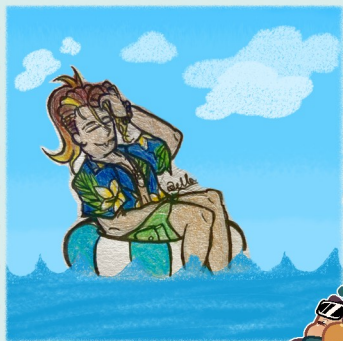

Octavio likes balls and strings, so I can take him on at skee ball and the duck pond. He's really diligent but his aim sucks. If I can convince him to go after the highest scoring holes and ducks, I can chip my way to a win.

Obviously, it's me versus Ruze in a strength game. I'll take him to the haunted house first. Or... I'll treat him to carnival food. If tiring him out doesn't work, I'll tell him there's a cat behind him and get rid of the mallet when he isn't looking.

Swim Along the Coast with Cannoli

- Step #1: Take Cannoli on beach walks until she's okay with the sand.
- Step #2: Buy a dog life vest.
- Step #3: Get her paws wet onshore. The life vest is in case she runs into the ocean.
- Step #4: Teach her the doggy paddle. I'll be with her in the shallow end for as long as it takes.
- Step #5: Swim laps at the beach together. If she ends up loving swimming as much as I do, that really is my daughter.
