Peace With Nature

*laying on the grass to relax looking upwards at the clouds lemon light whispering hope into the dawn,
joy into the breeze Music with the gentle prances of the one who created still...*

I wonder what the seasons talk about during those overlapping days when they share the earth.

Nature in all its glorious yearnings melts my heart and leaves me with assurance The whole earth is brided with the love of God.

Making peace with nature, my prayer to the one who created me and continues to amaze me.

👉 Avika Gupta: This is a picture of Mundan Ceremony of my Nani and his elder brother. In this Photograph there is the Great Grandmother of my mom sitting along with the grandparents of my mother. It is the oldest photograph of my ancestors found at my place, which is approximately 60 years old. At that time Mundan Ceremony was used to be a big family function. All the relatives and friends were called from far and wide. The function lasts for two days. People were used to dress up in simple clothes. The families were big joint families. There were many children in the families. Intact my Nani has four brothers and three sisters. They all live together with love and affection.
