From the editorial group

As the 'season of mists and mellow fruitfulness' approaches we can look back upon an exciting summer of the Jubilee and the amazing Olympic and Paralympic celebrations!! Let us hope that life will not be dull after such excitement.

Closer to home, the pupils and teachers of our village schools have a great deal to celebrate in their much improved examination results. We are delighted for them and wish them well in their future education.

The village has looked especially attractive over the summer months, despite the weather, with the hanging baskets, flower beds and now the trees blooming beautifully. They really do make the centre a more attractive place. Many of the gardens were also stunning and it must have been difficult to select the winners.

I was absolutely delighted with the response to my request for information about the life and contribution made by Sibella Bonham Carter to Sonning Common. I received so many lovely anecdotes and memories it was not possible to publish them all and it was really difficult to select from such a mass of data.

All of your contributions do add considerable value and diversity to the magazine – thank you and please keep emailing them to me. ”

Congratulations 1...

Sonning Common Primary School pupils SATS Success!

The Year 6 School Assessment Test results have never been so good. The 2012 leavers achieved the following:

| | Mathematics | Reading | Writing |
|---------|-------------|---------|---------|
| Level 4 | 95% | 100% | 87.5% |
| Level 5 | 45% | 60% | 52.5% |
| Level 6 | 5% | | 2.5% |

According to the Department for Education Level 4 is the expected level for a Year 6 pupil (Key stage 2 aged 10 to 11 years) and Level 5 to 6 is the target Level at year 9 (Key stage 3 aged 13 to 14). Pupils and their teachers have proved that the hard work through their final primary year has paid off as seen in the results.

Chris Hirst, Headteacher, was very pleased with the results and said: 'We wish them well as they move onto the next stage of their educational career. I am sure they will all achieve 'great things' and I am looking forward to hearing about their successes'.

More than half of the leavers have gone on to our local village secondary school at Chiltern Edge, while the others have joined Gillotts in Henley, Langtree in Woodcote, Highdown in Emmer Green, Reading Boys, Bluecoats, Crosfields, The Abbey and Queen Anne's. ■

Record GCSE results at Chiltern Edge School

Students and staff at Chiltern Edge School celebrated an excellent set of GCSE exam results with several school records being broken.

Highlights

There was a substantial improvement from 2011 on the key national benchmark measures with 66% of students achieving 5 x A*- C grades including English and Mathematics.

A record 79% of students achieved 5 x A*- C grades. The Mathematics department also achieved a 'best ever' with 73% of students gaining at least a C grade. 72% of all grades were at C or better.

The English Baccalaureate is a new measurement which was introduced as a performance measure in the 2010 tables. It is a measure which recognises where students have secured a C grade or better across a core of academic subjects – English, mathematics, history or geography, the sciences and a language. The results for this were also outstanding with 32% of students achieving at least a 'C' grade in the five examinations.

The school again performed well above expectations for the top grades with 30% of grades at A*/A or Distinction, well above national figures for a year group which closely resembles the ability profile of the national population. 35% of students achieved at least 5A*/A grades.

A small number of students sat BTEC courses in Sport and Science for the first time and the results were excellent with a 98% pass rate at C grade equivalent.

Top performers included;

Rebecca Wells 14 x A*/A and Distinction

Jenny Card 13 x A*/A and Distinction 1B

Stuart Beard 11 x A*/A and Distinction 2B

Mallan Hurst 12 x A*/A and Distinction 2B

Leanne Reeves 12 x A*/A and Distinction 1B

Sophie Lewis 11 x A*/A and Distinction 3B

Will Merrison 11 x A*/A and Distinction 2B

Headteacher Daniel Sadler said, 'These results are very pleasing and reflect the rapid improvement Chiltern Edge is making on many fronts. The changes we have made over the last three years are now having a significant impact on student achievement and progress'. ■

It's big...it's yellow...and it needs more drivers

The FISH Bus is a familiar sight in the village and surrounding locality. Together with the volunteer car drivers it provides a much needed transport service for those in the village, and wider community, who cannot drive or who are no longer comfortable with driving or who have slight mobility issues.

The FISH Bus makes regular weekly shopping trips to local centres and also offers a monthly programme of social outings to places of interest in the wider area. The majority of its passengers are senior residents but it is a community bus and available to anyone who requires such provision. However, it does not have wheelchair or disabled facilities so passengers are required to have independent mobility.

The bus is driven by a small team of volunteers who average about two or three trips a month at their convenience. The FISH charity is looking to recruit some new bus drivers following the retirement of two of its valued members. Could this be YOU??

The bus does look quite big but it is not difficult to drive and any new volunteers would not be expected to carry passengers until they had enough practice to feel confident. However, all prospective drivers do need to have the D1 category for Minibuses on their driving licence (automatic if car test was passed before 1997).

So if this sounds interesting and you can offer a few weekdays availability every month on a regular basis then please email John Pearman, the Bus Manager, on pearman@dial.pipex.com who will be very pleased to provide you with some more information before you decide. Alternatively phone Fred Nickson, the FISH Chairperson, on 0118 9724520.

By the way, just in case you have forgotten FISH stands for Friendship In Sickness and Health. ■

Trees planted to enhance the village centre

BY JO STOVES

Accompanied by many good wishes from friendly passing shoppers, the Village Gardeners set out to erect two planters containing flowering Cherry trees outside the Village Hall on 5 August. It proved to be a very time consuming task but there was much laughter and good humour from all who came to help.

The containers were made of wooden blocks which needed assembling, filling with gravel, drainage, topsoil and then planting. The task group were very pleased with the finished result which will enhance the centre of the village.

"There are cherry trees here in our village" the members of Nottakwire sang to John Howell, MP, members of Village Gardeners and passers by, as simple plaques were fitted to the planters outside the Village Hall.

"Their joint efforts have greatly enhanced the village for everyone" said Margaret and Elaine as they thanked members of Village Gardeners and Nottakwire. "It is a good example of groups working together and achieving more than would be possible independently".

John Howell commended Nottakwire on their singing and fund raising of £800. The short ceremony ended with "Oh What a Beautiful Morning". ■

Local (junior!) Super Hero

Jack Lambert (aged 8) lives in Reades Lane and attends Stoke Row Primary School. He wanted to raise some funds for his school towards replacing temporary buildings, and his family are keen walkers, so he decided he would like to try the Three Peaks Challenge. This is a very popular challenge of climbing the three highest mountains in Great Britain within 24 hours - Ben Nevis in the Scottish Highlands, Scafell Pike in the Lake District and Snowdon in Wales.

Jack's parents had previously completed the challenge and had scaled two of the three mountains several times before. Jack himself first climbed Snowdon when he was just three-and-a-half.

They set off on their trip after school had finished at the end of July. Jack's dad Mark was climbing with him and mum Rachel was driving them between the mountains. Unfortunately the weather was sometimes very wet and extremely cold for the time of year, but they persevered.

Despite the weather and Jack suffering sickness, they managed to complete the challenge in a fantastic 22 hours and 12 minutes.

Jack's dad - "It was a lot harder this time because we climbed the mountains a lot more quickly. Jack's very competitive so he wanted to know what time his mum had done and wanted to beat her with every peak. He did really, really well. At the end he was less tired than I was"

Mum Rachel - "They were already drenched before they had a chance to change into their wet weather gear so they stayed as they were and with the wind coming towards them as well it was very, very cold. I couldn't sleep at Ben Nevis because I was worried for them as every now and then there was a downpour. We were much luckier with the weather two years ago. We are really, really proud of him"

Jack - "I don't believe that I've done it - it's just weird."

The pair raised more than £4,700, the school are aiming for £60,000 by April 2013 to help pay for the replacement of temporary buildings. More than a third of the total has been raised since the appeal was launched in April.

To make a donation, visit www.charitygiving.co.uk/jacklambert

The previous youngest recorded person to complete the Three Peaks Challenge was Beccie Shedden, eight, from Barnsley, in 2003. ■

We know there is support out there and therefore we are going ahead to welcome a group of French people from our twin village of St. Luc et Guichainville. If anyone is interested in hosting some French visitors on either of those 2 week ends please contact Jo Quinton – joquinton@gmail.com, Barbara Crawshaw – crawshawbarbara@gmail.com or Chris Bickerton – chrisbickerton@hotmail.com ■

Neighbourhood Development Plan (NDP) marches on!

An amazing 105 village site, landscape and character surveys have been completed

The landscape evaluations and village character surveys are very important as they put the possible development sites SON 1 – 14 into context with the neighbouring countryside and residential areas. These will provide considerable data to decide whether they would, or would not be suitable sites for development.

The latest stage in our village consultation process was held on Saturday 15 September - Design Day 4. The drop in session provided the opportunity to give views about the regeneration of the village centre; to comment on the Vision for Sonning Common 2026 and to attend workshops for more detailed input to the site summaries. Again over 100 people attended.

Every home in the village has received a copy of Vision 2026 and been asked to complete and return the Housing Needs Survey. The response and involvement of the people of Sonning Common has been exceptional and commented by the consultants. Their comments are valued as they have worked with many towns and villages.

It's our village, so we are trying to make it our choice. Your views are being taken very seriously. THANKS to all of you who have been closely involved and to those of you who are unable to be actively involved, but continue to be supportive on a more ad hoc basis.

The next NDP session will be held in the evening look out for details please. ■

CLLR. BARRIE GREENWOOD

Farm visit with Lions

Each year a different group of very special young children are selected to come over from Belarus to stay here in England for a month, away from the radioactivity poisoning ever present in their homeland since the Chernobyl nuclear reactor disaster in mid 1984. Just one month of respite away from this environment much enhances their health and extends their life expectancy.

On Friday 3 August 10 children, 11 to 15 years, spent the day taking part in the various farm activities including wading in the nearby river Pang, pond dipping, feeding the animals, tractor trailer riding and insect identification.

Staff at Rushall Farm generously gave their time and facilities free, to enable these visiting young children to experience life on an English farm. They met, at close quarters, donkeys, cows, a bull, and lambs – something those from the larger communities in Belarus do not often get a chance to see. A happy hour was spent fishing with nets in the local river, which they cannot do back home as the water is too contaminated to play in.

For more details please contact Lions Secretary Alan Wright on tel: 0845 833 9837

Sonning Common Society still as relevant today

In the early 1960s Sonning Common was declared an area for development and the lack of local consultation caused much confusion and indignation. The village will have to accept a number of new houses determined by SODCs core strategy. The Society is concerned with the location and design of new buildings, will contest the proposed number and fight to reduce it as far as possible. We support the NDP and our aim is to sustain a balanced community without losing those features which attract people to live here.

The society compiles the Sonning Common Guide, two Newsletters are issued each year and Spring and Autumn Meetings are held at which there are illustrated talks and discussions - watch the notice boards for details!

The subscription is a very reasonable £3.00 for a family or £2.00 for a single member so, that we can continue to work for the benefit of the village, fill in the attached form and return it to Mrs.J. Pitson, 9 Carling Road, RG4 9TG, with your subscription.

Sibella Bonham Carter

known both as Miss B C and Bonny

"A woman who always looked to the future never the past"

By DIANA PEARMAN

In 2012, as the inhabitants of Sonning Common are involved in future plans for it's development, it seems an appropriate time to remember the wide ranging contribution this remarkable woman made to the village. The last time there were extensive building developments here was in the 1960's. In response to the lack of local consultation the Sonning Common Society was formed. Sibella was at first the secretary and then President.

Had she lived today, she may well have been involved, if not the leader, of the Neighbourhood Development Planning group??

Sibella's own words head up each section to reveal the story of her formative years and of her 'noble' connections.

"I can just remember her"

Soon after the birth of her younger brother David, Sibella's mother died.

Sibella was fond of telling others that she was just a year older than the century, the twentieth one. Her life crossed three centuries. Born in 1899 into a cultured and privileged family, her father was a solicitor and home was in Bayswater near Paddington.

"I did not particularly shine at school ... but one of the teachers fired me with the enthusiasm to learn"

First at the local Kindergarten, run by the wife of the poet laureate John Masefield then onto Downe House in 1912 as a boarder, where she may have learned to become highly independent. Her father did not always remember to collect her for the holidays!! Her classmates included Elizabeth Bowen, the novelist, and Audrey Richards who became an anthropologist. Both were similarly exceptional women.

"I only saw, sad to say, a deaf blind old lady"

Sibella met Florence Nightingale who at the time did not make a great impression on the young Sibella but may well have influenced her decisions in later life?

"I searched the waste paper baskets at 10 Downing Street ... and it was a poor tea"

Her aunt was the daughter of Asquith, Prime Minister during WW1 and she was taken for tea at number 10 by her father. Sibella was left to her own devices and soon discovered the waste paper baskets in which were crumpled letters from famous people. She took them home, smoothed them out and kept the signatures in her autograph book.

"It was a course for girls who were going to stay at home ... it was a pity I did not get to University, but I was told I couldn't do that"

Sibella attended a one year course at Kings College for young ladies. She then supervised her father's house, checking the meals and servants, welcoming her father in the evening.

"We found ourselves in a new world without men"

Had she been born at a different time she would probably have married but almost a whole generation of young men died in WW1.

"I was bored stiff and longed to do something useful"

Eventually she persuaded her father to pay £60 so that she could train as a midwife at the General Lying -in hospital in London. During her midwifery career she delivered 85 babies and she compiled a set of beautifully drawn sketches of her patients.

"One of the highlights of my early years"

A refugee Belgian family lived with the Bonham Carters during WW1 and they became Sibella's good friends. She was appalled by the dreadful casualty rate and the bombings.

Her remarkable contribution to life in this village is so extensive it is almost impossible to find sufficient superlatives to describe it. Perhaps it is summed up by the following – in her own words.

“I have enjoyed a long life especially the last part as I have been able to do things”

In 1950, three years after her father died Sibella moved to Sonning Common to 1 Woodlands Road where she adapted the house and set up a nursery, licensed to take 5 babies. Christopher, she adopted, and many others were fostered by her.

One of her first actions in her adopted village was to advocate the improvement of the constantly flooding end of Woodlands Road. She formed a committee which, with contributions from residents, was successful in having the road repaired and subsequently adopted by the council in 1959.

“They could form their own cricket team”

Sibella set up a trust to pay for the pavilion at Bishopswood in memory of her father and his 10 brothers. She also supported the local football team and in 1959 bought their first football, became a member of the club and later its vice President. She walked to support their away matches and even knitted their scarves!

“I phoned through with just 15 minutes to spare before the bidding closed. It was very exciting”

This may have been her finest hour, when she came through to top up the bid of Sonning Common Open Spaces Trust (SCOST) for the purchase of Kennylands field. Money had been raised by donations, £24,000 from the residents, but this amount could not have outbid the commercial developer without Sibella's £90,000 donation.

Her accomplishments and breadth of interests were extensive?

Sibella was a talented artist and learned lithography. She loved music; in her youth sang in a Bach choir conducted by Vaughan Williams; with the choir at Peppard church and the South Chiltern Choral Society. She enjoyed play reading with the Chiltern Players and was the President for some time. She made her own clothes, grew her own vegetables and bound the church hymn books by hand. As a member of the English Folk and Dance society she knew Cecil Sharp who was the founder.

At 60 she took up Judo, studied English Literature to A level at 70, and learned Greek aged 90. Her IQ was measured to be 160 by MENSA when she was 93 becoming the oldest member at that time. She was still walking a mile around the village as a centenarian, although maybe not quite so quickly!

Aged 105 (2005 the year she died) she told a reporter “Life just keeps getting better”

Looking back over her long life she said ‘I am not a person who has regrets. To spend time regretting is a sheer waste of time. I’ve made mistakes like other people, but what’s the use of pouring over them, better to go and do something else. I call myself a happy person because I have achieved most of the things I wanted to do.’

Anecdotes AND MEMORIES

A collection of thoughts from those who knew her.

YOU ARE LATE!

On the appointed day the interviewers from Meridian TV were delayed and it was 4pm before we knocked on the door. Miss BC opened the door dressed to go out and said "You are late! I am going out for my walk!" I eventually persuaded her to relent and we were invited in. But the interviewers had to be taught how to behave! She lectured them for an hour on various aspects of her illustrious family and only then allowed them to ask a few questions about Millennium Green!

ROBIN HUNTER

LIFE LONG LEARNING AWARD

I thought I might share with you my photo of Miss Bonham-Carter receiving an award from Malcolm Wicks MP in London May 2000. There were 19 regional winners aged 80 upwards, all learning a new subject or skill. Miss Bonham-Carter was teaching herself to read Greek.

TINA BROWN

When we first moved into Sonning Common we lived at Bembridge, 'the house with the monkey puzzle tree' by what was then known as Brinds Corner. We were still in the throes of unpacking when the telephone rang, "Bonham Carter here", (whoever is this I thought?) "The Sonning Common Society have just planted some trees on the grass opposite your house".

"Oh yes".

"They will need watering and I would be obliged if you would do that, thank you".

So we did, we didn't dare disobey such a summons. Unfortunately it was a hot spell and I am ashamed to say that one of the trees didn't make it. We never dared tell Sibella!

JILL AND ROGER KENDALL

SIBELLA, ALTHOUGH BORN A VICTORIAN, IS TRULY AN ELIZABETHAN IN OUTLOOK

One day she was seen walking down Woodlands Road with a pick axe over her shoulder. She, at 90 years old in 1999, had been to a tree planting session in Old Copse. Very rarely discouraged, always cheerful, totally lacking in self pity, possessing a lively sense of humour and interested in almost anything one can mention.

KITTY JEFFERY

My over-riding memory of Sibella Bonham-Carter was her indefatigability in everything she did - walking throughout the village to deliver leaflets for some good cause; standing outside the post office handing them out in all weathers; making her own clothes, including overcoats; reading music or recently published political works so that she could "keep up with the times" - despite her poor eyesight.

A group of us used to take her out to lunch to celebrate her birthday. On one occasion she told us of her first flight to France in an open topped plane, sitting behind the pilot. Asked whether she wore a flying helmet she replied "No, just a silk scarf to keep my hair tidy".

She was an indomitable woman - no wonder the grim reaper had a job to catch up with her.

BRENDA DAMP

PURCHASED FROM MISS SIBELLA BONHAM-CARTER (67 LEA ROAD) IN JULY 1999
BY DOUGLAS AND YVONNE KEDGE

This was the last remaining item of this kind in her folder following the sale of her work in the village, which generated considerable local interest. She had completed the work at the London School of Art when young, but how to sell it was not part of the course. At the age of 100 she was thrilled by her first sales.

HER INFLUENCE AND DEDICATION TO OUR VILLAGE WILL NEVER BE FULLY APPRECIATED

My contact with her during the rapid growth of Sonning Common started in 1958. I had bought a plot of land on Peppard Road to build my house after I had married.

I was measuring up the plot when I met this lady in a tweed skirt and deer stalker hat, who was also measuring up land at the Wood Lane Close end of my plot.

"I want this land for a play area as the planners have omitted an area to play – how much do you want for it?" she asked me. I must have annoyed her, my co-operation was negative.

DON NAISH

TO ME THE ONE BENEFICE THAT MOST REVEALS HER CHARACTER

The proposal to provide the Village Hall was foundering because it would have insufficient car parking. So she gave (not sold, gave) a substantial part of her garden for car parking and an access way, so that the traffic and activity of a place of public assembly would come up to the side of her house, but, what mattered to her, was that Sonning Common would have its Village Hall.

Those silver birches behind the Village Hall were hers.

LORD SILSOE

Miss Bonham Carter owned the house in which we live. She extended it, included many cupboards the children used for hide and seek, and in a bay window the curtains were drawn straight across "so they could put on plays."

A nuclear shelter was built in the cellar for fear of an attack by the Soviet Union. She'd had such a miserable experience living through two wars in London and constant air raid warnings, she would not want to impose that experience on her charges. One former resident recalled that Miss BC, had told his parents that there would be room for him in the shelter but not for them!

GEOFF ADAMS

Our memories of Sibella and the time she spent in South Chiltern Choral Society, the only female tenor. She began her time there as a first Alto then progressed to second Alto and then became the first and only lady tenor that the society has ever had. She left before she could progress to the Bass section! They remember a vigorous, outspoken lady with strong views. When it was suggested that the choir sing John Gardner's The Holly and the Ivy at one Christmas concert, Sibella was of the opinion that it was vastly inferior to the traditional version and made sure her thoughts were known to all at rehearsals.

JANE AND GWYN ARCH

AT AGE 93

I was the invigilator when Sibella sat the MENSA test. She just failed at the first attempt as she ran out of time. It was quite clear to me that she could not see the questions properly (she refused to wear glasses). More time was requested for her second try and she passed, result – IQ 140.

DOUGLAS KEDGE

After she sold 4 items, she said: "I expect it is because of my notoriety". When she had sold 14 items, she had to concede that she might have some merit as an artist. Her side-view portrait of Ralph Vaughan Williams, done at a concert without his knowledge, was accepted after his death by the National Portrait Gallery

Riverside Counselling Service – serving a need in the community

There are times when people's lives become too difficult for them to manage alone. At these times they need the support of those around them and often professional counsellors can help them to find their way again and to give them the strength and confidence to deal with their problems.

Riverside Counselling Centre was founded in Henley as a charity in 1989 by a group of concerned people. Our service has grown and expanded ever since in response to the needs of local people. Today we have fourteen professional counsellors who give their time voluntarily to offer affordable counselling and psychotherapy to young people and adults in the locality.

There is no doubt that there is a growing need for counselling services. A report published in June by Lord Layard and a distinguished panel of psychologists, doctors, NHS managers and economists pointed out that nearly half of all ill health in those under 65 is mental illness, but only a quarter of sufferers are receiving treatment. With six million people suffering from depression or crippling anxiety conditions and one in every three families having someone who is mentally ill, the scale of the problem is clear.

The report emphasises the success of psychological therapy: "a half of all patients with anxiety conditions will recover, most permanently, after ten sessions of treatment on average". The long-term benefits to the lives of patients, their families and society as a whole are incalculable.

We believe passionately that counselling can change lives. Please contact us in complete confidence if you feel we can be of any help.

NEIGHBOURS

Generally speaking you cannot choose your neighbours; you are either lucky or you are not. I was exceptionally lucky with Walter and Nora Dunn.

When I moved to Sonning Common nearly twenty years ago I did not know a soul in the village. I bought a house in Kidmore Lane with a flimsy wire fence down one side of the garden, and it was not long before I was regularly chatting over it to the elderly couple on the other side as they tended to their vegetables and fruit trees.

Nora was white-haired, Welsh, sharp in her mind and incisive in her judgements. Walter was immensely, inexhaustibly kind-hearted, the nicest and most generous of men. I discovered that his driving passion in life was painting. He showed me some of his work. It was very abstract and difficult for me – a philistine in such matters – to understand.

One day I had a load of horse manure delivered for my fruit and veg. There was more than I needed so I took a few barrow loads around to Walter and Nora's. A little while later I came back from somewhere to find a painting had been left for me. It was of a pike, a favourite fish of mine. It is amazingly faithful, beautifully and skilfully done, and to my shame I thought Walter painted abstracts because he couldn't do real life.

In time I moved to the middle of the village, but we stayed very good friends. Walter got deafer and older and every now and then he would say that his painting days were over. But the urge was always too much for him and he always went back to his paints and his workroom.

He finished his last painting in May this year, and he died last Saturday at the age of 93. It was a privilege to have known him, and I still have my pike looking sideways at me from a wall in the kitchen to remind me of him every day. ■

Local artist leaves after 40 years in post

By JOAN GRUMMANT

Local artist, Pauline Twyman, is stepping down from teaching the local authority run art class at the Adult Education Centre Sonning Common. She has taught drawing and painting for over forty years, based at Chiltern Edge School and was also a part time art teacher at Sonning Common Primary School. She will be sorely missed and has taught many adults and children from the local area.

At one time when Pauline was chairman of the local playgroup, her pupils ranged in age from three to ninety three and her enthusiasm and commitment was communicated to all of those lucky enough to be part of her classes. She has strived hard to inspire others as well as exhibiting her own work.

Pauline, who has lived in Sonning Common for fifty three years, was privileged enough to win a major county scholarship to study art at Reading University and has always felt the need to contribute in as many ways as possible to the fostering of art in the local community. Fortunately for us she will continue to do this by a new venture at Christ the King Church Sonning Common. She teaches two classes every Friday during term time. We wish her luck with the new venture and also with her first solo exhibition. This will take place from the 8- 14 November at the Fire Station Gallery, Henley on Thames. ■

Local residents support CCA summer fayre

The CCA staff would like to thank everybody in Sonning Common and the surrounding villages for their support at the recent Summer Fayre, including all the local business who donated very generously with meal and meat vouchers, a car valet, refreshments, printing services and many other gifts. Although the weather wasn't very good, God certainly blessed us with a steady footfall during the morning and the magnificent sum of £766.17 was raised. Once again, many thanks, and we look forward to meeting with you again when you visit our shop. ■

JOAN BAWDEN Supervisor

Hats off to the Village Gardeners

I was in the village centre this weekend (1 Sept) - and it was sunny (unusual I know!). I was struck by how very stunning the flower beds and village hall area look right now. I think this is the brightest the village has ever been and this is thanks to the small group of very dedicated Village Gardeners who have transformed the village for all of us to enjoy.

Thank you very much. I am sure many, many people appreciate your efforts. ■

JILL GRINSTED Kennylands Road

Village gardeners receive accolade and donation

During our recent visit to Sonning Common my wife and I were very impressed with the results of the efforts of the Village Gardeners to restore the village flower beds and to beautify the area around the village hall. Well done all of you! Please accept the enclosed donation to your funds. ■

JOHN HENRY LEWIS

Oh dear!

So Tom Fort (Making Bread, August edition) finds it 'a bit painful' having to obtain his yeast from Tesco because he is 'not really a Tesco person.' How gloriously, snobbish and pompous. ■

CAROL EVANS Grove Road

Praise for the newest pub in the village

Whilst some of our local pubs have either gone into decline or closed their doors entirely, it is refreshing to see one that is trying very hard to buck the trend, and that is the Butchers Arms. A friendly welcome is always given by a young couple offering good food at sensible prices and not the so called "Gastro pricing".

Also good real ale is available. My wife and I wish them well. ■

J & J WATKINS Grove Road

Be aware this is a con!

I have just been conned and it has made me hopping mad.

I realised that my European Health Insurance Card was out of date, so I went online and clicked onto the site at the top of the list, filled in all the details and paid over my £14.99.

Big mistake as this card is FREE. It made me realise just how easy it is to be taken in by what appear to be a perfectly bona fide site. At least it was only £14.99 and not more.

That is the beauty of the scam, I would have been suspicious if it had cost me much more. ■

CHRISSE PHILLIPS-TILBURY Woodlands Road

Footpath repaired at last

I should like to express sincere thanks to Cllr Carol Viney and SC Parish Council, for arranging the complete renewal - at last - of Fulford Way, at the upper end where it meets Woodlands Road.

For many years residents and villagers using this footpath have had to battle with uneven, treacherous, slippery, muddy journeys up and down - and having made a number of enquiries trying to establish responsibility for maintenance of the footpath in order that something be done about it, I was about to ask yet again.

Lo and behold - a SODC workforce appeared last week and swiftly levelled and re-tarmaced the surface. It is now a pleasure to use. Many thanks are due to Cllr Viney and our own Parish Councillors for acting on our numerous requests so that the footpath is now safe and attractive for all those who use it. ■

AN INTERVIEW WITH...

Nikki Mitchell

By ROS VARNES

A few lucky breaks coupled with talent, hard work and determination have led to one village resident enjoying a rewarding career as a BBC television journalist.

Nikki Mitchell, as she is known at work, jokes that journalism is her third career but she got there in the end!

She started off as a graphic illustrator of greetings cards, then worked in finance and administration for the BBC monitoring service at Caversham before finding her true vocation when BBC Oxford TV was launched about 13 years ago.

Before moving into TV, Nikki did a two-year stint with local BBC radio. She traces the beginnings of her journalistic career back to the days when she used to answer the phone and put callers through to BBC Radio Berkshire presenter Andrew Peach when he was on air.

One day a story came into the newsroom, claiming that fish were dying in local rivers due to polluted water running off the Newbury by-pass building site. With all the journalists already out on other stories, Nikki was faced with a decision: cover the story herself or lose it.

She chose to cover the story, whizzed over to the Newbury by-pass site, investigated the allegations, and, that evening, did a successful live interview for the drive-time show.

Nikki, who lives in Grove Road with her husband Stephen and sons Felix, seven and Dexter, five, said: "I had no degree, no journalistic training but plenty of drive and enthusiasm.

"I would always say to people who are looking for opportunities: bother people, don't take no for an answer, work for nothing and continually generate new ideas. Always have something to offer people."

Nikki now works two days a week as a video journalist for BBC Oxford TV news, having since completed a series of BBC training courses and gained plenty of experience.

She researches, films, writes, edits and presents reports for the weekday regional news programme, which follows the main network news on BBC One. The programme's broadcast area reaches from the Cotswolds to the Chiltern Hills and from Milton Keynes to Swindon.

Most of Nikki's reports are only one-and-a-half minutes long and condensing a series of interviews and pictures into a clear, informative and entertaining report can be quite a challenge. But it's one she enjoys.

She says: "I wake up in the morning and want to go to work. The days whizz by and there is no time to get bored. Every day is different and because my reports are usually transmitted the same day, I rarely take stress home with me.

"I get to meet and interview really interesting people - ordinary people with extraordinary tales to tell - celebrities, sports personalities and powerful politicians. I go to fascinating places the general public rarely sees and am often privileged to watch events unfold first hand.

"Juggling the demands of filming on location and presenting a report is tricky. I can be in wellies and waterproofs, filming on a muddy hill in the howling wind and rain in the morning, and then be expected to turn up in the studio, or on location, to present a live report, looking smart, groomed and relaxed.

"The job can be very emotional. I've had to film some terrible things, some awful car wrecks, for example, and I've had to interview people who've lost friends and family in terrible circumstances.

"But I am continually amazed by how welcoming people are, and how generous they are with their time, even in sometimes difficult circumstances."

This summer Nikki covered the Queen's Diamond Jubilee celebrations at Henley Business School and the heroes' return to Henley following the Olympic Games. More locally she has investigated a controversy over the keeping of chickens at the allotments in Gallowstree Road.

Nikki believes that community stories are vital and is keen to hear from anyone with a good local story to tell. Contact: nikki.mitchell@bbc.co.uk ■

JUST FOR KIDS

Hi everyone,

I hope you guys have had nice holidays and had fun watching the Olympics. Did any of you go because I'd love to hear about it! If not, did you watch any races or, like me, stay up late to see the opening or the closing ceremony? I thought it was all so exciting. My favourite sport was the gymnastics, and I thought the giant octopus was really cool.

The summer holidays have whizzed past, and I've been lucky enough to have been to Scotland (cold, lots of walks), Cornwall (warm, lots of surfing) and Spain (boiling, lots of swimming). I bet some of you went to exotic locations and I'd love to hear about that or anything else you've been up to.

New for this issue is a word search - I hope you enjoy it.

ANOUSKA

The Secret Village

I am proud to announce that the winner of the last issue is: (drum roll, please) Emily Williams. Emily goes to Sonning Common school and if you know her please say 'well done'. Emily correctly said it was in Lea Road Park at the younger children's section. See if you can beat Emily in this Issue but I've got to warn you she's fast!

SONNING COMMON

Our village is great because we have lots of facilities. See if you can find them all in this word search.

HOLIDAY CLUB

The Holiday Club at Chiltern Edge is a great place to go when your mum and dad are at work, or just if you're feeling bored. It has a wide range of activities so there is always something new to try, such as outdoor arts and crafts, judo, archery and trampolining. It's really fun and I should know because I've been there! My favourite activities are party games, creative cookery, arts and crafts, musical theatre... in fact, I'm not sure which are my best.

Story lab and the follow on afterwards

By the time you read this summer will be over and the Story Lab Summer Reading Challenge will have finished. (If your children didn't quite manage to finish the challenge, just ask the library staff and we might be able to give you a bit more time) I'd like to thank Adam, our Story Lab volunteer, who made our job so much easier this year.

The library organised special Saturday Storytimes throughout the month of August on the theme of 'Stories from around the World', which I feel were a great success. The countries covered were France, Barbados, Zambia and the Netherlands. I'd like to thank all the people who helped out: Madame Quinton for her French rainbow stories; Val Harris for her Barbadian turtle tales; and Mrs Wilbrink for her Dutch Miffy stories. Drinks and home-made cakes were on sale to raise funds for the Friends of Sonning Common Library, and I'd like to thank all those who baked and sold. (Volunteers to bake & sell are always welcome!)

I'd also like to thank all the parents and children who came to the library so often over the summer, and my long suffering staff who are always supportive.

Saturday story times are continuing, with stories to listen to at 10 o'clock, and pictures to colour in, and we will continue to provide hot and cold drinks on Saturdays on a self-service basis, for a small charge.

We're planning a Sinterklaas storytime at the end of November – look out for posters nearer the time!

Plans for the SONNING COMMON ROLLER PARK move forward

On Saturday, 1 September four potential suppliers were invited to the Sonning Common Village Hall to present initial design ideas which could be achieved within the given budget. The event was attended by about twenty very enthusiastic youngsters (including members of the Sonning Common Youth Forum), some parents as well as interested Sonning Common residents.

Everybody was eager to chat to the suppliers and share ideas. Feedback forms were completed by the children and the results of these will form the basis of the brief which will subsequently be submitted to the suppliers for tender.

A very good start to September: watch this space for further updates!

EFFORTLESS HEALTH AND FITNESS WITH Tai Chi?

Is it really possible to get fit and healthy without the discomfort that usually accompanies exercise? Unlike other forms of exercise, Tai Chi requires students to practice in the most unhurried, gentle and relaxed way possible in order to gain maximum benefits. The unhurried and effortless movements are practiced with calm concentration making practice extremely pleasurable. In fact if the exercise is not comfortable and enjoyable you are probably doing something wrong.

Current research indicates that Tai Chi is a weight bearing and moderate intensity cardiovascular exercise. Practice of Tai Chi can improve balance, reduce falls and increase leg strength. It also lowers stress hormones, enhances respiratory and immune function and promotes emotional well-being. ■
