While the majority of the cargo BFS handle is general freight, either loose or palletized, every now and then BFS get the chance to transport something truly special. This brand-new vehicle was air-freighted from Germany just last week, proving that when it comes to logistics, we're always up for any exciting challenge that comes BFS's way.

LIBURNIA

Advanced Logistics

Liburnia Launches New Brand and Website to Reflect Two Decades of Growth

For more than 20 years, Liburnia has been helping clients move complex cargo across Europe and beyond. Over that time, the company has grown – into new markets, new capabilities, and increasingly complex projects.

What began as a maritime agency has evolved into a group that combines project logistics, heavy transport, chartering, port agency services, and engineering support into one coordinated operation.

Liburnia's new brand and website are designed to reflect what the group has become: an organisation built around solving logistics challenges that don't fit standard solutions.

The way they work remains the same. Same execution. Clearer direction.
